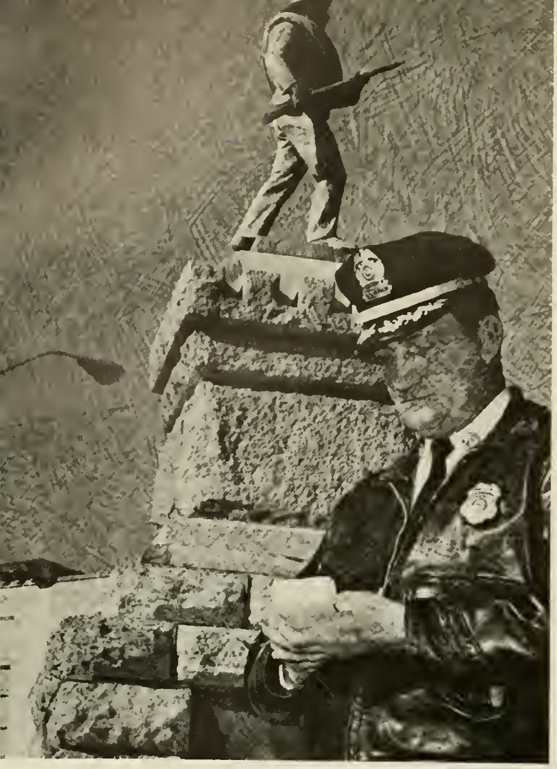
MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY
MURFREESBORO—VOLUME 46



In the exact geographic center of Tennessee there stands a city whose history dates from earlier than the Civil War (came on strong in 1811, in fact). Murfreesboro, as the town is called, boasts all the earmarks of a budding young city with tremendous growth potential. It sports good highways, two large shopping centers, a daily newspaper, and many other signs of sophistication. Murfreesboro is, by no means a sleepy Southern town. However, it does retain two little acres in its heartland where the way of life is still unhurried, casual, and even sometimes happy. We refer, of course, to the courthouse yard where the town's senior citizens (some more than senior), younger ones in flight from work, transients resting from the high road, and "Saturday" preachers sunning themselves during the more pleasant days and hibernating in the caverns of the forum place during the winter blast.

The Johnny Reb atop the Confederate monument presides over the town in activity below and, meanwhile, is poised to the North to repel invasion. Beyond the confines the town goes about its business to the accompaniment of piped-in music and the whistle of the tall gendarme. Beyond these two acres in the heartland, industry blossoms, cash registers ring, and the town limits move outwardly, not unlike bright ink on a blotter.

But (hold on) there is an even more colorful symbol of pride to which Rutherford Countians point with obvious pleasure.

Middle Tennessee State University stands conspicuously new in the same historic part of town that houses Oaklands, Murfreesboro's most famous historic site. To this smaller city come annually thousands of eager minds (what are we saying!) to be tutored in the essentials of knowledge, drilled in the disciplines of academics, and lost in the morass of university life. (How's this?) These thousands of students are looked on by the city fathers with a mixture of awe, disbelief, and thankfulness. There is the belief that the larger community and the collegiate community complement each other and grow together—with understanding and evolving trust. Therefore, the students continue their lemming-like march to the campus semester after semester, in the pursuit of an education with just a little fun on the side. These, then, are the Raiders and Raiderettes of today and elder and mellow Raiders and Raiderettes of tomorrow.

"Campus Comes Alive . . .

Everyone arrives on campus during fall semester registration days trying to hit the line early to get the classes they really wanted this time, while attempting to re-locate a few of their friends in the process. Needless to say, they didn't all make it, because anytime one has eight thousand students all trying to do something at once . . . (Well, eight thousand is an overstatement, really. The two thousand freshmen had already registered during the summer and had nothing much better to do with their week than wander around and gape at the buildings). Wait—we take that back, too. The Associated Student Body, bless their little hearts, tried to make Welcome Week less of a pain by staging a really impressive slate of events. Beginning with a concert by the Town Criers, a versatile group of performers, the week unfolded with an orientation period (easing the pain of transition still more), a freshman talent show (what did I say about pain?), a Powder Puff football game, a picnic, a fun night exclusively for freshmen, a coffee house, a movie, a pop festival, a dance after the football season opener on Saturday—hey, guys, the freshmen aren't worth that much. Are they?

The Ideas and Issues Committee bent over backward to fulfill their mission. Beginning with Ralph Nader and running the length of the political spectrum through Reid Buckley, Jesse Hill Ford, Al Capp, and Dick Gregory, they assaulted MTSU minds with biting social, political, and environmental questions. The MTSU minds responded, too. Nader's address, the first in the series scheduled in the Dramatic Arts building, drew such a crowd that all future speakers were given the gym. The oversized turn-out couldn't be explained entirely in terms of the people wanting to see a celebrity; it's good to know there are active brains on the campus.

Everybody enjoyed homecoming in his own particular way, whether he was a student, an alumnus, or simply a Blue Raider football fan. Strangely enough, the less-than-ideal weather lent a uniqueness to homecoming that was amusing to see. While we all would rather have seen lovely Claudia Waller and her court resplendent in radiant sunshine, the sight of them trying valiantly to preserve their hairdos under umbrellas was captivating in its way. Unless you were the father that had to pay for a ruined formal. Sorry, Mr. Waller.

. . . With A Return of Old Grads . . .

Homecoming 1970 was made up of a lot of little things, of which the 44-0 rout of Austin Peay was only a part. The Buchanan clowns, the victory keg (a first for this year), the floats, dorm decorations that degenerated into soggy pulp after the second day, the Apple Marys at the corner of Tennessee Boulevard and Main Street, and the pouring rain (which obediently abated at the end of the first half of the football game) all helped the 1970 gathering of ex-Blue Raiders remember other times when things they'd planned didn't go exactly right, when a little rain fell on their well-conceived-ideas —i.e., their college days. The little things add up to the big thing; 1970 homecoming was a pretty big thing.

BLUE RAIDERS

. . . With Registration Trauma and Reunion With Old Friends . . .

The most distinguishing feature was the lack of available classes. One really can't forget the scene in the Tennessee Room—students signing for classes that don't exist are a unique sight. I don't know what bizarre natural law dictates that registration days must be accompanied by extremes in weather, but it is so, believe me, it is so. Spring semester's opening day was no exception. (Deceptive name, spring—at least as far as registration is concerned). The unlucky people who didn't get to register on the first day silently cursed the closed section boards that broke out in red acetate until they resembled an advanced case of leprosy. The mere ring of the Computer Center telephone in the Tennessee Room struck panic into their souls. Disgusted sophomores with just over 30 hours would mouth about what they termed sadistic administration officials who close classes before they were full, knowing in their hearts it wasn't true as they signed for their evening classes. (If they were lucky they got evening classes. If they weren't lucky, well, they got Saturday classes, or wound up taking Rabbit Raising, Watermelon Cutting, or Basketweaving 306 —anything to get an open section). The students themselves tried as hard as any campus committee to inject a little fun into campus life. Congregating in the University Center and assisted by a guitar, a Frisbee, an occasional banjo or mandolin, or sometimes just each other, they played. ("You see," says one young fella in 'granny' glasses, "No one has yet bothered to explain to us that one comes to college to be Straight and Grown Up;" "Thus," he continued, "we hairy, unencumbered, beautiful people proceed to actually enjoy ourselves." My gracious, something should be done! This is par for the course among MTSU students, and I'm sure it has aroused the envy, at one time or another, of every Straight Student on campus. This is the dawning of the age of Aquariu-u-us . . .

A tightening-of-the-belt budget policy this year forced the three campus publications and the radio station to make adaptations. It didn't affect the nature of the people concerned, however; COLLAGE, the MIDLANDER, the SIDELINES, and WMOT-FM were still staffed by the same group of long-suffering, dedicated, and probing students and harried advisors. Closely related in thier aims and goals, and often staffed by many of the same people, the communications corps chattered on through 1970. Jim Lynch, Jill Woodworth, David Page, Duane Sawyer, and Bill Phillips guided this group of Excedrins as they photographed, interviewed, reported on, broadcasted about, and wrote about every major personality to touch the lives of MTSU students this year. And through it all Bill Phillips even managed to go to classes once or twice. Good work!

. . . Plus B. J. and Some More of Homecoming . . .

Top 40 fans got their moments of glory during the fall semester when Kenny Rogers and the First Edition, B. J. Thomas, and the Temptations, each nearly filled the gym. The First Edition gave their normal witty college show (interspersed with some fairly daring gags) that was humorous throughout. B. J. Thomas, under considerable strain, as he confessed to the audience, nevertheless delivered his sophisticated set of hits to the homecoming weekend audience. And the Temptations—ooh! They had to be the best stage show seen and heard here in ages.

Have you ever seen a homecoming weekend in which the weather was so beautiful it simply wasn't real? You know the type—mild, sunny, just the right weather for a football game. Well, we've seen that kind of weekend, too. But the 1970 Homecoming weekend was nothing like that at all. Dr. Homer Pittard, Alumni Director, couldn't make arrangements for good weather, but he and his faithful band planned nearly everything else imaginable for the alumni and students.

While the women in the company were off touring Oaklands, their husbands—many of them, anyhow—were competing in the annual alumni golf tournament. With a barbecue, a Saturday morning ham-and-eggs breakfast, and a buffet luncheon under their belts, the guests of honor, all six thousand of them set out to take in the Hospitality Hour, complete with a concert appearance by the Southerners from the MTSU of 1938. In addition to all that, a reception at President Scarlett's home, an alumni versus varsity baseball game, a scrimmage by Coach Jimmy Earle's round-ballers, the homecoming parade, and of course (of course!) the game, rounded out the weekend nicely.

MTSU athletics has always been with us and always will be, hopefully. Ground was broken for a new gymnasium in the early spring (or late winter) of 1971 to help insure that sports will be a permanent fixture on the campus and that HPER will have exhaling space. Many people thought the quality of MTSU's athletic teams was, sadly, also a tradition, and one about which the less said, the better. New head football coach Bill Peck did much to dispel the tradition, however, and MTSU finished the football season at what seemed comparably dizzying heights, with a mark of 6-3-1 (3-3-1 in conference play). Most satisfying game, no doubt, was the runaway victory over Austin Peay; most heartbreaking, to the casual observer, must have been the 17-13 defeat at the hands of Tennessee Tech. Nevertheless, one game couldn't wipe out a relatively stunning overall season, marked by some clutch victories (Ball State, in which we were tied or trailing until the final seconds) as well as the almost-pulled-it-out defeats (Eastern Kentucky, where the team looked sharp, felt sharp, and were sharp, but lost anyhow).

. . . and Then Winning Football and The 'Pearls of Earl' . . .

Jimmy Earle's basketball wonders, or "Pearls" in the vernacular of the trade, showed promise (in spite of injuries that beset the Raider camp almost immediately after practice opened). The track team, the swimming team, the golf squad, all held their own (some triumphing over larger university competition with flying colors), but the average student heard, not so much about them, as he did about Bill Peck's successes or occasional failures. Hunter Harris, David Duvall, Coleman Murdock, Jack Crawford, Charles Holt, Reuben Justice, Greg Gregory, Taylor Edwards, Ron Taylor—that's enough. I'm sure they really are not too excited about seeing their names in print; their "T" must have been reward enough for a season well done.

MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY

. . . and With Shouting in The Forum Place . . .

Then came the freshman elections, and many people on campus were hard pressed to find one campaign rule in the Student Handbook that wasn't broken or slightly fractured by the eager, zealous first-semester politicos hoping to draw their power from the mindless masses. One candidate's thirst for power led him to promise anything from helicopter shuttle service from dormitories to classes to motorcycle races in the University Center. Another at the other extreme, believed that the heady strength of his name alone could elect him to office, and thereby limited his campaign efforts to that deathless name until everybody wondered just who "what's his name" might be. (Neither of these were elected, and, who knows, this may have been fortunate for the world). For a long time in late November, bedclothes and pasteboard were the usual foliage of the season, as banners, posters, signs, cards, and handouts urged us to vote Lannom, Barry, Hall, White, Duszynski, Fisher, Crow, Carrol, Cardiff, Smith. Hixson, and company. The steady succession of names must have wearied several upperclassmen and probably quite a few freshmen, but such is the progress of a collegiate democracy across our middle lands at the edge of Murfreesboro. . .

The ever present Greeks, dividing their time between hounding their pledges and doing good turns for the university and the community, were omni-present in 1970. So many sweatshirts resplendent in maroon and gold, blue and white, green and gold, green and white, blue and gold, et al—bedecked with handsome distinguished Greek letters: Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Zeta, Sigma Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Gamma Delta, Sigma Nu—continued to make their presence felt on campus through the performance of good works far too numerous to be mentioned here. I guess we take the Greeks for granted, nowadays.

And while we're at it, let's not forget the departmental clubs, the honoraries, and the special interest clubs. Designed to make participation possible for people who have special interests in accounting, music, military education, student government, education, academics, community service, and so on, these also kept active during 1970 in the doing of good turns for the community and campus. The Socratics drove for books; the Track and Sabre Club drove for blood. The Sacred Harp Singers gave their concert tour; the Vets Club gave a talent show. The Block and Bridle Club sponsored the Little International Rodeo; Delta Zeta held a boutique; Alpha Tau Omega went national in the space of two months. CUBE gave a Christmas party; the Pershing Rifles went to Mardi Gras—the list of clubs and functions is endless. But it all happened, and it all contributed to a fuller year at MTSU.

The Free University concept, not unheard of but foreign to the MTSU campus, was initiated in November. The program of costless education and voluntary class attendance was responded to favorably, to a degree, and the bulletin board that sprang up in the University Center that announced the class times seemed to lend an air of permanence to the whole affair. Darrel Knox and Danny Crass, the "Evolution of Folk, Rock, and Country Music" instructors, felt their way along in the beginning and began learning with the students.

Fun Nights are a hallowed tradition at the university, and this year was no exception. Blue-Eyed Soul, Clifford Curry, U.S. Apple Corps, Jerry and the Uniques, the Regency, and several other groups famous locally, and sometimes nation-wide, graced the Tennessee Room this past year.

. . . and Socializing and Classes . . .

A typical day on the MTSU campus might go this way. If you're a commuter, your day could begin as early as 5:00 a.m. If you live on campus, you could conceivably postpone arising until 7:45 or later, that is, if you don't eat any morning meal. If you don't eat breakfast, you're missing more than the food (However great a blessing that might be). You're missing the companionship, the frivolity, and the general early-morning weirdness of the people, the Grill, the SUB, Woodmore, or High-Rise West. These people, totally thunderstruck at the prospect of another day in classes, make an attempt at joviality and happiness over their coffee and doughnuts, ham and eggs, sausage and biscuits, waffles, or whatever. The chitter-chatter of certain of the undergraduates with the greatest awakening prowess, and the modulated tones of whatever announcer happens to be tuned in on the radio system mingle in a soothing backwash of quiet activity, and you're just considering going to sleep in one of the booths when you look at your watch, and zing, it's 7:58.

... and We Almost Have a Year."

If you're lucky, when this rude awakening comes, your first class will be in the NCB; if not, you may wind up wind-sprinting to the gym or the Drawing Building or the Student Union or whatever. There you are offered MTSU's own version of Education, getting your little slice along with everyone else. Between classes (no one anywhere likes to think much about classes) you will probably be found back in the University Center. Your home-away-from-home—the UC. Wandering through the basement where the bookstore and post office lie, checking your post office box for the second out of four times that day (Nobody ever writes you and you even have to pick up junk mail off the floor, it's THAT BAD), you begin to socialize among the slices of humanity around you. The girl with stringy hair and something grey on her hands is either in art or scenery painting. The guy with close-cropped hair and a wide grin, hanging around with several other boys of his height and build, doesn't have a uniform on, but it doesn't matter—he's a Pershing Rifleman. Or he might be a Physical Education major. Finally you spot some friends. They're going into the bookstore but you catch them inside. The group of you decide to visit the Grill. It doesn't matter whether you're hungry or not—often the dispensing of food seems to be secondary to the social functions that take place in the Grill.

If it's late enough in the afternoon, you'll have to hack your way past commuters waiting for their rides home and taking up most of the available booths. Once inside, you and some other friends decide you want something to eat—but the line's so long, you'll wait and go in a minute. Besides, you don't want to have to struggle trying to hold a Raiderburger together.

Here is where you'll make your plans for the evening, and this is where our typical day breaks down. There are almost as many ways to spend an evening at MTSU as there are students. You might arrange to study with some friends or study alone; take in a university function such as a basketball game, a fun night, a Free University class, a UC Theater movie, a speech from some visiting celebrity, an Arena Theater play or a club meeting; you might go to a fraternity party or a private party; write a term paper in the library; or just stay in the dorm. At any rate, you'll wind it up at about twelve o'clock if you're lucky, and 3:00 a.m. or later if you're not. Get ready to begin all over again tomorrow —because that's the way it is!

Administration

The authority for the administration of the University radiates from the people of Tennessee to the Governor followed by the State Board of Education. On the home front, the University President is at the apex of the administrative triangulation. On his team are specialized individuals whose many tasks are germane to a sub-city of over nine thousand people. Although there is a note of finality in decisions by the administrative staff, the President, in essence, represents the campus court of last appeal.

Governor and State Board of Education

The authority for developing general governing policies for Middle Tennessee State University is vested in a State Board of Education which is composed of twelve members, not including the Chairman. The Chairman of the Board is Mr. E. C. Stimbert who is a member of the Governor's cabinet and the Commissioner of Education. Ordinarily, the Board meets quarterly to deliberate on programs and problems of this University and other public institutions of higher education, excepting the University of Tennessee. Governor Winfield Dunn, the Chief Executive of Tennessee, is an ex-officio member of the Board and, in this capacity, is a key person in the progress and development of this University.

The First Family

The First Family At Work

The University's First Family can be classified no less than as a "working family." President Scarlett, who has just logged three years at the administrative helm of the University, has been successful in having more new programs approved and activated than has any other institution of higher education in Tennessee. This has been accomplished in addition to the prolifera of campus administrative details. Mrs. Scarlett, in company with President Scarlett, is in attendance at many of the faculty and student functions. At times, the demands on the First Family are so great, that the President will attend one campus activity and Mrs. Scarlett, the other. This activity is a contagion to the children. David is President of his Senior Class at Murfreesboro Central. Nancy is a sophomore at Murfreesboro Central and, in addition to her involvement in the affairs of Murfreesboro's young people, is an active member of the Oaklands Junior Club. Jon, a junior at the University, is a leader in his fraternity and is a campus employee during registration periods and at certain other times.

Dr. Scarlett with John Hood, Assistant to the President.

The first lady of the campus, Mrs. Caroline Scarlett, serves as the University's official hostess.

Dr. Scarlett receives Outstanding Alumnus Award of 1970 from his alma mater, Catawba College.

Dean of Administration

The Dean of Administration has under his direction a diversity of administrative satraps that include most of the "store" function of the campus. These include business affairs, registration and records, the computer operation, buildings and grounds, University relations, athletics, the bookstore, the post office, and many others. In particular, the Dean has received regional acclaim for the University's innovative registration procedures and for his statistical analysis interpreting the functions in his division.

Dean of Students

Because of the fluidity characteristic of his division and because he is closer to where the action is, the Dean of Students administers to one of the most demanding areas at the University. The Dean of Faculties heads a structure that, by stages of devolution, includes four Dean of schools, twenty-seven department chairmen, and 375 members of the instructional staff. In addition to administering to the affairs of this academic hegemony, The Dean has supervision over the instructional media center and provides guidance and decision-making to the various committees in the areas of curriculum.

Senate

This nineteen-member body is coordinated with the House of Representatives in reviewing and passing new bills. In essence, the Senate and House of Representatives organizations for student government are analygous to that followed by the larger community.

House of Representatives

The roots of the House reach down into all of the recognized campus organizations. Thereby, the House is truly representative of the campus and should reflect the thinking and tone of most of the students. It appears that the continuing project of this body is the revision of the Constitution in light of campus needs.

MEMBERS: Bob Thomson, Jim Akers, Terry Denniston, Carolyn Carroll, Tony Peek, Tony Pendergrass, Bob Trebing, Duane Sawyer, Butch Chambers, Patti Diffee, Joe Baxter, Jane Hamrick, Nancy Campbell, Robert J. From the student's viewpoint, this is the court of last appeal prior to petitions to the Appeals Committee or the University President. This body, acting in good faith and in deference to the rights of students, attempts to render decisions fairly and in light of guidelines set by the court.

Food Committee

Napoleon was supposed have said that "an army travels on its stomach." Somewhere, somehow, this has an application to our campus—"studies" for "travels," etc. Anyway, there's an A.S.B. committee that watches assidously at the food ramparts.

SEATED: Virginia Bruce, Loretta Rhiggs, Cathy Hampton, Suzzane Smartt. STANDING: Joel White, Nick Prater, Rick Edstrom, Roger Hardaway, P. Richard Baker, Co-Chairman.

Ambassador Program

For the past few years the A.S.B. has sponsored a program to sell the University in the hinterlands. The committe, constituted for this purpose, serves really as an adjunct to the Field Services activities. "Recruitment" is the watchword and this is activated among the junior colleges and high schools of the state.

Homecoming Committee

Although there is considerable student involvement in Homecoming, the principal emphasis is placed on the returning graduates. This Homecoming weekend, set aside each year, tries to accentuate the nostalgia effusing from another era in the University's history. The Homecoming Committee assists in coordinating the annual weekend.

School Spirit

Although one can't box the stuff or relegate it to a committee, school spirit, nevertheless, has for itself a coordinating committee or "launcher." Particularly important to this committee is its task of keeping the spirit alive during periods of athletic aridity. Happily, this is only an occasional task.

SEATED: Susan Thompson, Elaine Lannom, Cathy Hampton, Virginia Bruce, Claudia Waller, Martha Driver. STANDING: Hugh Walker, Nick Prater, Bob Knight, Phil Cook, Rick Edstrom, Denice Phillips, Chairman, Sammy Sells.

Ted Cooley, Marie Welch, Al Wilkerson, Chairman, Vivien Fitzgerald, John Nelson.

Election Commission

This committee, in its activities, simulates the democratic processes in the larger community. It maintains supervision over the campus elections and administers to problems related to collegiate suffrage. In the campus elections, it is at the helm of one of the most exciting and important annual programs.

Student Life

Exposure to new ideas . . . shooting down of old ones . . .
good swap at times, maybe so, maybe not . . .
experiences with new hairdos and facial foliage . . .
espousal of causes, some for real, some for image conformity . . . looking over a field for life's mate, finding one—maybe—or staking out a claim . . . looking for a crusade or bases for a cult, or just simply living a
"G" life, or a "GP," at worst . . . straightening-up or cleaning-up near the end of the trail—poised to look for a job.

There are city dwellers to the east . . .

It's a city with streets, patrollers, grabage collectors, restaurants, a post office, a supermarket, parking meters and problems. Chances are, it's more vibrant than most cities and its problems and solutions are a part of the whole pattern for greasing the several chutes leading to other cities. Some study, some relax mostly, some relieve frustrations by smacking a tennis ball—or walking a rail.

Candied guise of study.

Sweet agonizing moments . . .

. . . to the best of the Swinging Medallions.

Quietness on the mid-acres is one thing . . .

Things are never quiet around the place. For one thing, the students, as never before, got themselves charged up about politics. Receiving the clear message, the politicians trooped to the campus and mingled in the New Classroom forum place and talked and anwered questions. No surcease for quietude was the Mid-Winter Formal with blasts from the Swinging Medallions and the welter of voices from the Tennessee Room.

A dean profile.

Most have good sides

Even a freshman.

Most are in deep contemplation unaware that some camera is exposing their half views for posterity. Whether it is the good side or the other, there results something of a study in frozen repose and a mysterious index to a kind of introspection. It almost happens to everybody at sometime or another.

And another dean.

Profile in reverie.

Superb "Lion in Winter" with Lane Davies and Connie O'Connell.

There were big and little dramas

Regality and technical superiority came with "The Lion in Winter". Campus dramatics, whether behind the footlights or in the lesser-thespian atmosphere of the classroom or another place, highlight the contrived situation or life's realism of the moment. It could be a slow nap at a lecture, the excitement of a check-out (or in), or the dreariness of the first week away from home.

Extra–corridor stroll.

"I'll be happy to repeat it."

It started in Eden and began to gain momentum along about the time of Noah. Since that time most everybody who got into the act claimed founding honors. The fact is, every new pairing off seems as if it's the first one. Ignorance of pairing-off history is not so bad, when one thinks about it.

The sounds we hear . . .

B.J., Temptations, The First Edition (we believe), Ralph Nader, and many others brought a little of the pro world to the midlands. And, of course, in wake of the big lights, came the spin-offs all around the place. One remembers the chording guitars and the agonizing twangs of budding aspirants—all in search of listeners.

Jimmy Trammell soul searches.

("We're killing them!")

Ecstasy on the concourse.

Security at ease.

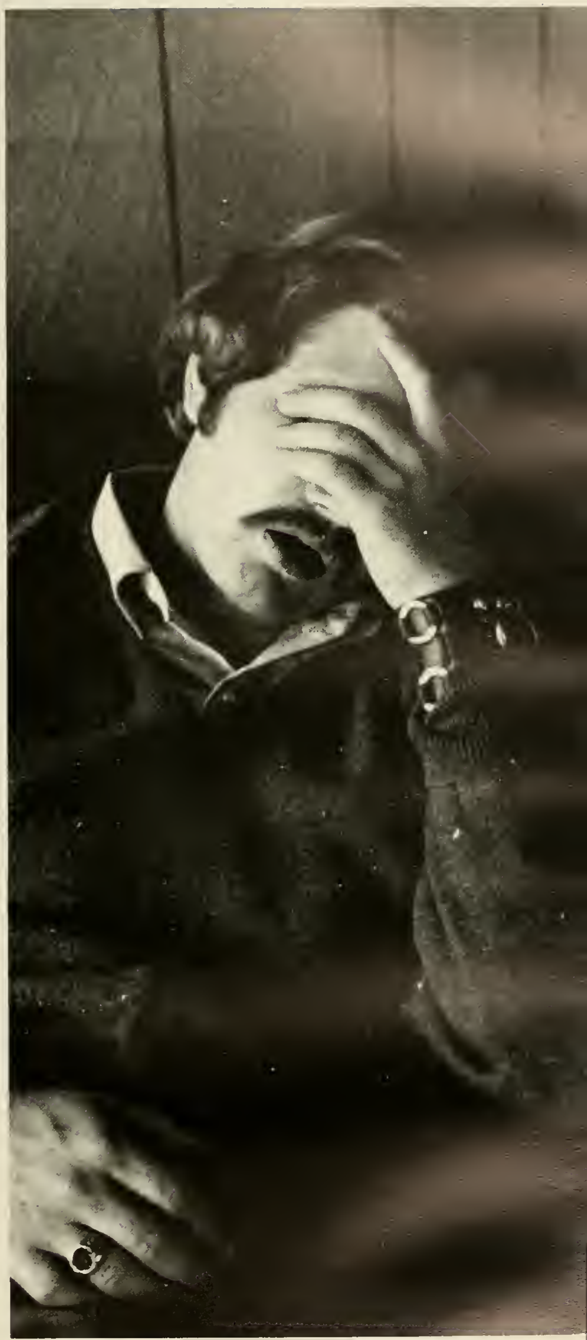
Student at ease.

Then, there are the sitters . . .

Sitting is a refined art that most campus Raiders and Raiderettes have loved and developed. Some find concrete most comfortable in a nocturnal concourse; others prefer the lounge for a nap or for a casual exchange on something or somebody. Perhaps there's a preference for going it alone for awhile— with a magazine or a vantage point in a near-empty stadium. With the right tone, the right place, or the right person, sitting is an art.

Concourse happiness.

Lounge exchange.



Late, late movie postlude.

Here come the classes

There's always the problem of fitting classwork into a crowded collegiate calendar. But, somehow, with a stern and Spartan look over a cup of coffee or a double limeade, it somehow works out and the catalog contract is net. Then, most everybody is happy, including those who handle the banking back in Mudville and, of course, the professors who handle the gradebooks, and lastly, the students who try to handle the classes. Ever see such handling?

Concentration.

There's no shortage of acres

No one has sold the place on a shortage of acres. At last count there were over 506 stretching from the Boulevard to the East somewhere. Those who come this way rediscover the latent talent of walking, and the architectural oracle who planned the ribbons of walkways never quite brought his drawing board traces into full focus with the campus Boones and Fremonts.

HAIR!

"Men in early Greece and Rome wore beards and allowed the hair of the skull to grow long. From the fifth century, the Greeks cut the hair of their skulls short, and from the time of Alexander they cut their chins. The Romans followed suit in the third century B.C., but from the time of Hadrian they again wore beards." The Oxford Classical Dictionary, Oxford University Press, 1949, p. 914. Exciting, isn't it? The reader can see that we've only scratched the surface. In deference to space, the reader will also have to take the ball from here.

Forrest Raiders

Probably the most rugged unit in Military Science, the Raiders are regarded as the brigade's counter-insurgency unit. Principal activities include the preparation of cadets for active duty and engaging in field training exercises. During the spring break, the unit travels to Ranger school. The campus program consists of bi-weekly training sessions.

Freshman Dick W. Floyd Jr. lowers himself into the prone position as he prepares to demonstrate how he led all Blue Raiders Rifles this past season in shooting.

The Young Raider Rifles completed a very successful year acquiring experience and background by participating in numerous shoulder-to-shoulder matches, postal matches, and several intercollegiate rifle tournaments. The highlight of the season came during the second annual Volunteer State Rifle Tournament held right here in Blue Raider Country. The future looks very bright for the young team as they look forward to having the sport of riflery elevated to a major sport within the Ohio Valley Conference.

Freshman Emil T. Rogers shows good form in the most difficult standing position as he zeroes in on the target down range.

Affiliated with a national fraternity of similar intent, the Rifles attempts to meet the co-curricular needs of the members. Its high-stepping members are in great demand for parades and other special events. In addition, the Rifles participate in competitive drills with other colleges and universities. Possibly the highlight of each year is the fortification in the New Orleans Mardi Gras Festival.

Raiders Enjoy Winning Season . . .

Football at MTSU took giant strides in 1970 toward returning to the greatness of former Blue Raider teams. Under new head coach Bill Peck, the Big Blue shocked the "experts" by posting a 6-3-1 mark when a maximum of three wins was all that had been predicted before the season began.

Coach Bill Peck.

1970 was a season of many highlights for Middle Tennessee State. There was the season opening win over UT Martin which got the ball rolling, and the big victory over UT Chattanooga on the Mocs home field, the rout of rival Austin Peay before the old grads on Homecoming, the shocking upset of Western Kentucky at Bowling Green and the deadlock with defending OVC champion East Tennessee.

1970 was also a season of honors for the Blue Raiders. Peck was named as the OVC's Coach of the Year for the outstanding job he did. Two sophomores, cornerback Ed Miller and offensive tackle Charles Holt, were named to the All-OVC first team, while linebacker David Duvall, offensive guard Jim Inglis, tailback Reuben Justice, tackle Greg Gregory and safety Ray Oldham were chosen on the second team. Miller, Holt, and Duvall rated honorable mention College Division All-American notice.

Individual records as well as team records were set in 1970. MTSU's pass defenders, paced by the all-sophomore defensive backfield known as the Mod Squad, picked off a touchdown against Chattanooga. This is both an MTSU and OVC record.

Punter Ron Taylor set a career mark for most punts (21) and a single season record of 77 kicks. Reuben Justice, the Most Valuable Offensive Player by vote of the team, rushed 232 times of 878 yards, which is the third highest total in MTSU history for a single season. His number of rushing attempts is also a school mark.

Freshman place-kicker Archie Arrington booted 18 of 19 extra points and a record-tying five field goals to set a record for scoring by kicking of 33 points.

With 36 of 48 lettermen returning for the 1971 season, plus some highly-touted transfers and incoming freshmen, MTSU will definitely be a power to be reckoned with for the OVC Championship.

Big Blue Bops Vols 28-7

UT Martin provided the opposition in MTSU's first game of the 1970 season, and the Vols gave the Big Blue a stiff workout before falling 28-7.

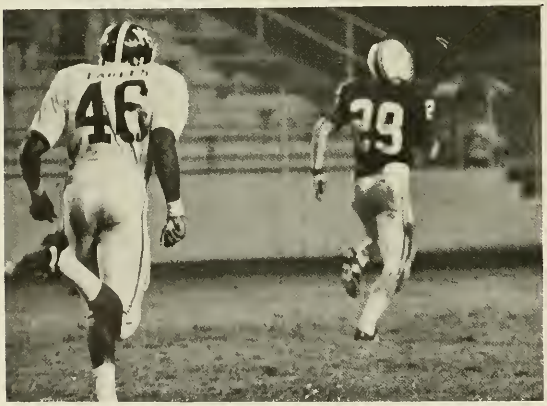
Reuben Justice, a sophomore tailback from Chattanooga, got the Raiders off and running with a five-yard burst for a TD in the first period. Arrington's extra point made it 7-0.

After a scoreless second period, the rugged Raider defense set up two quick scores in the third stanza on a fumble recovery by linebacker David Duvall and a fumble grabbed out of the air by end Jack Crawford. The opportunistic Raider offense took advantage of both breaks to run the score to 21-0 before the Vols from Martin were able to get on the scoreboard late in the period.

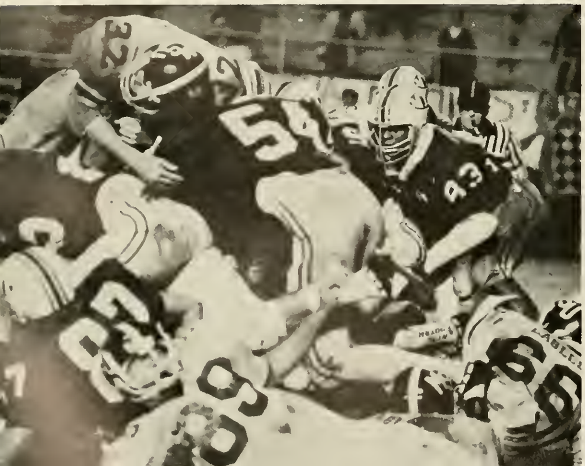
A pass interception by tackle Greg Gregory accounted for the other MTSU tally. Greg grabbed a lame duck pass from the Vols Kelly Coker, who was attempting to throw from behind his own goal line, and stepped into the end zone from three yards out.

Justice and freshman fullback Jesse Carter got the second and third MTSU scores and Arrington was perfect on all four placements.

Taylor Edwards heads for the goal line all alone for MTSU's second TD in 14-6 win over Morehead.



Tough Raider defense turns back another Morehead bid in the second period of 14-6 win.



Morehead Victim No. 2, 14-6

In the first Ohio Valley Conference game of the season, MTSU hosted Morehead State, the team that had pounded them 35-9 the year before.

Quarterback Bobby Gatlin gave MTSU a 6-0 lead midway in the second period when he sprinted 43 yards for a touchdown on an option play. Arrington's placement gave the Raiders a 7-0 lead. One of the highlights of the first half was a brilliant goal-line stand by MTSU early in the second quarter.

Following a scoreless third period, Morehead finally punched across a TD with 10 minutes left in the final period. MTSU came up with a big defensive play on the Eagles' try for a 2-point conversion, and halted the visitors' bid to take the lead.

Holding only a slim 7-6 lead, MTSU awaited the Eagle kickoff. Senior Taylor Edwards grabbed the ball on the 18 yard line, sprinted right up the middle of the field, burst into the open and outlegged the Eagles for an 82-yard kickoff return score. Again Arrington's kick was perfect and the Big Blue led 14-6.

A final Morehead assault was halted when Duvall intercepted a pass on the eight yard line and returned it 35 yards to the Morehead 43.

Mocs Feel Raider's Muscle, 24-8

In search of their first win on Chattanooga soil since 1919, the Blue Raiders turned three UT Chattanooga mistakes into scores and brought home a 24-8 win over the Moccasins, their third straight win of the season.

Reuben Justice, who had a field day before his hometown fans, rushed for 143 yards in 26 attempts and scored one touchdown.

It was Ken Coffee, sophomore safety from Austell, Ga., who got the Raiders rolling, however. He picked off a Moc pass at the 48 late in the second period and returned it to the UTC 28. From there, MTSU moved to a touchdown in 5 plays with Jesse Carter getting the tally from a yard out.

A safety just before the half got the Mocs on the scoreboard, but MTSU came back with a field goal and touchdown in the third period to take a 17-2 lead.

Safety Ray Oldham broke the Mocs' back in the final frame, however. With UTC driving toward a score, Oldham grabbed a Keith Cardwell pass on the goal line and raced 100 yards down the sidelines for a Raider TD to make it 24-2.

UTC later scored on a deflected pass to make the final score 24-8.

Reuben Justice finds going rough at Eastern Kentucky in season's first loss.

Eastern Halts MTSU, 24-10

Eastern Kentucky, one of the pre-season favorites in the OVC, handed the Blue Raiders their initial loss of the season, a 24-10 defeat before 16,000 people in Richmond, Ky.

Jimmy Brooks, Eastern's All-OVC tailback, put the Colonels on the scoreboard in the second period with a 28 yard pass reception for a TD.

MTSU's Archie Arrington and Eastern's Ralph Gillespie exchanged field goals later in the second frame to give the Colonels a 10-3 halftime lead.

A couple of home runs in the third period took MTSU out of the game. Brooks scampered 57 yards for the second Eastern score, then defensive back Jackie Miller picked off a Bobby Gatlin pass and hauled it back 76 yards for another score.

Although the Raiders fought back with a TD pass from Gatlin to Mike Finney to make it 24-10 at the end of the quarter, neither team was able to muster another serious threat and the Big Blue had suffered their first loss.

Raiders Rout Rival Govs, 44-0

Bouncing back from one of their worst performances of the season, MTSU blasted arch-rival Austin Peay 44-0 before a cheering homecoming throng in the rain. Taking a 3-0 lead on an Archie Arrington field goal from 33 yards out, MTSU suddenly found themselves with their backs to the wall as the Govs came driving back to gain a first down on the Big Blue two yard line. Four plays later, after a brilliant goal line stand, MTSU took over on the one and it was all downhill from that point on.

The Raiders blew the game wide open in the second period with their most prolific scoring display in many years as they put 27 points on the scoreboard. Two Austin Peay fumbles and two pass interceptions helped the Big Blue cause considerably.

Johnny Blankenship and Jesse Carter, a pair of reserve running backs, both scored twice with Tommy Beene and Melvin Daniels getting the other two touchdowns as MTSU added TDs in both of the last two periods to make the final score 44-0.

Murray Stuns Peckmen, 20-0

Faced with a near-perfect offensive effort and an inspired Racer defense, Middle Tennessee dropped their second game of the season, and second within the tough OVC, to a Murray State team that was not to be denied on that particular October evening.

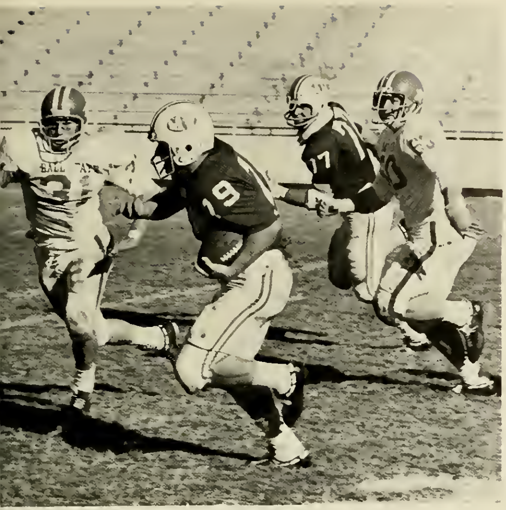
A hint of things to come occurred in the first series of downs when Reuben Justice was really racked up by the rugged Racer defenders and spent the remainder of the game on the sidelines with a painful hip injury.

Still, the first quarter ended in a scoreless tie with neither team threatening. In the second period, Murray used three intercepted passes to gain good field position and finally broke into the scoring column with an eight yard pass from Garnett Scott to Jack Wolfe, who made a fantastic catch.

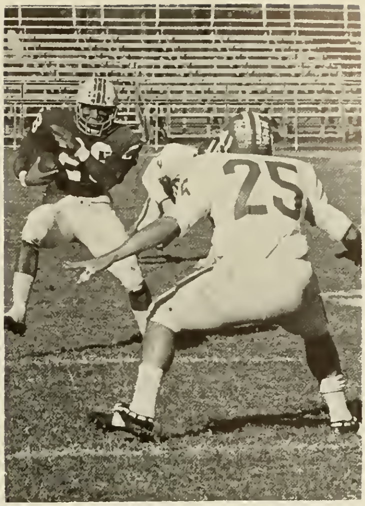
In the second half, Murray tallied on another pass, this one from Scott to Billy Hess for 38 yards. Meanwhile the Raiders still weren't able to muster a threat. Tailback Jimmy Brown got the final Racer tally on a 55 yard sprint in the fourth period that was a result of two Raider defenders running into each other.

For the Raiders, it was the end of a long three-game road trip that left them with a 3-2 record. For Murray, it was sweet revenge for being MTSU's only victim of the 1969 season.

Big Blue Edges Tough Ball State, 14-7



Danny Buck sets sail for Ball State goal line as he returned an intercepted pass 43 yards for a touchdown in 14-7 triumph.



Justice is confronted by Ball State defender in open field.

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have devised a more heart-stopping ending than the one that happened in the MTSU-Ball State clash. Little Reuben Justice, playing for the first time in three weeks, caught a Dean Rodenbeck pass to complete a 26-yard scoring play with only eight seconds remaining to give MTSU a thrilling 14-7 win over intersectional giant Ball State.

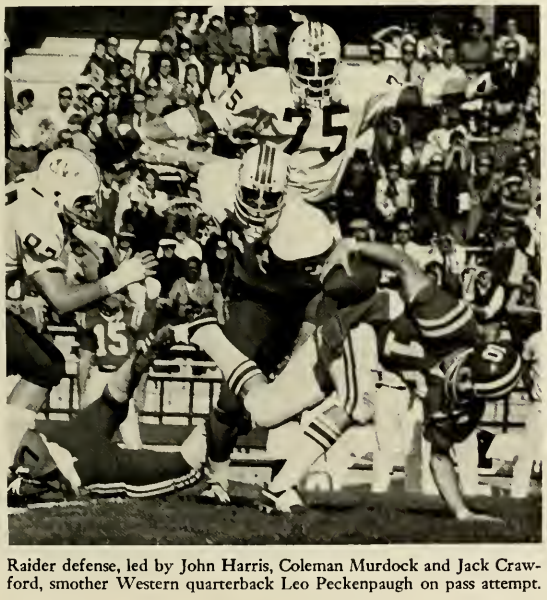
The Rodenbeck-to-Justice heroics were only part of a fantastic last-minute drive to net the Raider win. With the score tied 7-7, MTSU took over on their own 23 yard line with only 37 seconds left. Two passes to David Stewart, one to Taylor Edwards, a pass interference penalty, and the toss to Justice netted the fifth win of the season.

MTSU'S first score came on a 43-yard return of an intercepted pass by defensive tackle Danny Buck.

Raiders Shock Top Rated Toppers, 17-13

Western Kentucky, unbeaten and nationally-ranked, was the next Raider foe. Despite being a solid underdog, MTSU carried the fight to the Hilltoppers all day, and when the smoke cleared, the Raiders had a solid 17-13 win.

Western scored first on a 42 yard jaunt by Clarence Jackson, but MTSU came back to tally on a 10 yard sprint by Justice that was set up by a pass interception by Ed Miller. Jesse Carter blasted into the end zone from 17 yards out and the Raiders had a 14-7 halftime lead. Arrington added three more points with a 28 yard field goal, then Western came right back to cut the gap to 17-13, but a try for a two-point extra point failed. MTSU's defense took over at this point, however, and Western never threatened again. As it turned out, this would be the only loss of the season for the eventual OVC champions.



Raider defense, led by John Harris, Coleman Murdock and Jack Crawford, smother Western quarterback Leo Peckenpaugh on pass attempt.

Jesse Carter finds lots of running room in MTSU's big 17-13 upset of Western Kentucky.

Bucs, Big Blue Slog to 3-3 Tie

On what was the last collegiate game played on real grass (or mud) on Horace Jones Field, MTSU and defending OVC champion and once-beaten East Tennessee slipped and slid to a 3-3 deadlock.

Defense by both teams was tremendous all day, with MTSU completely stopping quarterback Larry Graham, the OVC's Offensive Player of the Year, but not being able to muster but a couple of threats themselves.

East Tennessee got on the scoreboard first on a field goal by Ron Harrold with only one second left in the first half. It was the Bucs last trek into MTSU territory until the final series of downs in the game. Archie Arrington tied the score with a 23 yard effort mid-way through the third period, and barely missed on three other attempts from 28, 49 and 53 yards.

The tie knocked the Bucs out of any chance at the OVC title, but it also halted MTSU's three game winning streak. It did, however, mean that the Big Blue had completed the season undefeated at home.

Tech's Burch Gentry misses field goal attempt as Raider defense applies pressure in 17-13 upset by Eagles.

David Stewart leaps high for Bobby Gatlin pass in season finale against Tech.

Tech Upsets Raiders in Season Final, 17-13

A win over Tennessee Tech on Thanksgiving Day in Cookeville, always a tough assignment, was too tough for the Raiders to handle in 1970. The Eagles, who had lost six straight before pulling the 17-13 upset, turned loose all of their build-up frustrations on the Raiders, and came away with the win.

Tech, obviously more fired-up than MTSU, opened the scoring in the first period on an eight yard rollout by reserve quarterback John Zeigler. Butch Gentry's placement made it 7-0.

Then came the biggest play in the game. Tech's Butch Strickland, a defensive halfback, grabbed a deflected pass near the sidelines and raced 68 yards untouched for the Eagles' second TD.

MTSU came back, driving 72 yards in 10 plays for a score, Gatlin passed 13 yards to Mike Finney for the tally. Arrington's kick made it 14-7 at the half.

A 24-yard field goal by Gentry upped the Tech lead to 17-7 in the third period and put the pressure on the Big Blue. With Gatlin at quarterback, MTSU dominated the final quarter, but could get on the scoreboard only one more time on a 22 yard pass to Taylor Edwards from Gatlin. A try for two points on the conversion failed. MTSU had one more chance, but the tough Eagle defense turned them back to ice the win.

Freshmen Contribute to Season's Success

A large number of freshmen played key roles in the success of the 1970 season. A total of 11 "true" freshmen and six "redshirt" freshmen earned letters for the Big Blue. Of these 17 lettermen, six started at least one game, and Archie Arrington did all of the placekicking. Coach Peck can look with satisfaction at the youth on his squad, and know that the future is rosy. Names that fans will remember among the freshmen are linebacker Gary Bell, fullback Jesse Carter, flanker Melvin Daniels, tackle Jack Crawford, flanker Mike Finney, linebacker Richard Hughes, cornerback Nate Porter, offensive guard Dale Reese, quarterback Dean Rodenbeck and runningback Steve Steman.

For every freshman who play, however, there were at least two others who didn't see action, but contributed vitally to the 1970 effort. These are the boys who scrimmaged against the varsity all season, who composed the scout teams that ran the next opponent's offense. You will be hearing from a lot of these boys, too. Probably next season.

Doc Camp Keeps' Em Fit

George Camp is the athletic trainer at MTSU, and does a tremendous job. He and his crew tape around 120 ankles for each home game, treat every sort of injury, and prepare the team physically for each game. His hours are long, but you never hear him complain. Camp was assisted this season by James Bennett and Tim Stanfill.

Managers Lead Hard Life

MTSU's managers are a hard-working, energetic crew. Their contribution to the football program ranges from washing dirty laundry to lining off the game field to repairing equipment. Head manager for 1970 was Kenny Hastings. He was assisted by Terry Murff, Terry Polman, Keith Johnson, Horace Martin and Larry Sneed. These boys are the "men behind the scenes" in any successful football season.

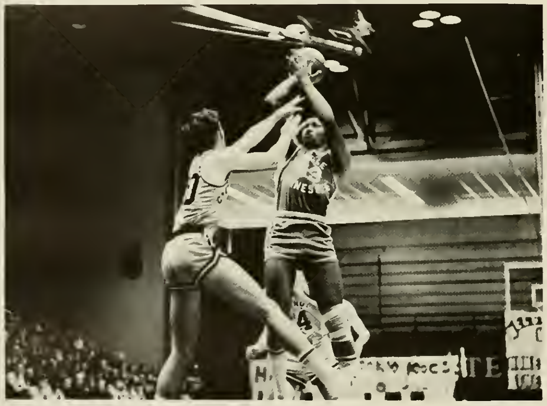
1970-71 Season of Frustrations, Disappointments for MTSU Cagers

Riley fires one in.



Skyes drives for the basket.

1970-71 was a season of frustration and disappointment for the basketball program at Middle Tennessee State. The final record of 11 wins and 15 losses, doesn't reflect the true talent and ability of the '70-'71 Blue Raiders.

A hint of things to come occurred in the very first game when junior guard Jim Drew, the team's sparkplug and leading scorer for the year before, broke his ankle in the first five minutes of play. He did not play again for the rest of the season, and he was sorely missed.

After taking a 3-0 record into the Christmas holidays, disciplinary action cost MTSU the services of still another starter, and he was missed also.

The OVC cage wars proved to be a rough road to travel for the Big Blue, and MTSU wound up last with a 3-11 league mark. The record against non-conference opposition was better, however—8-4.

All was not dark during the season. There were several high points. One was winning the OVC's Best Defensive Team title by giving up only 71.3 points per game. This was the second straight year that the Raiders had gained this honor.

Several new faces dotted the Big Blue basketball scene. The most prominent was that of junior guard Herman Sykes of Kansas City. Sykes, a transfer from the University of Oklahoma, led the Raiders in scoring with a 17.0 average, and was an 82 per cent shooter from the free throw line.

Two others whom Raider fans will get to know better in seasons to come are 6-10 Chester Brown who pulled down 177 rebounds, and 6-3 Nick Prater who scored 217 points. Both are sophomores.

Also, Drew will be back next season as a junior. According to an OVC ruling involving hardship cases, anyone injured in the first two games of the season and is out for the remainder of the season, does not lose a year of eligibility.

Gone, however, are three seniors who logged considerable playing time. 6-5 forward Ken Riley, a two-time All-OVC choice and the team's leading rebounder, 6-3 guard Stan Sumrell, the team's leader in assists and third leading scorer, and 6-10 center Derry Cochran, a part-time starter, have all graduated.

Coaching Staff Does Excellent Job

Coach Earle.

Coach Blankenship.

Coach Newman.

Coach Rich.

Head coach Jimmie Earle and his staff did a fine job this season as they were forced to overcome numerous obstacles and setbacks along the way. Earle posted a fine 15-11 mark in his first season last year, and now stands at 26-26 after two years. If MTSU fields a winning team next season, Earle will be ahead of schedule, since three years is the amount of time usually allowed to rebuild a program up to the .500 level.

Assisting Earle during the 1970-71 season have been two graduate assistants, Bob Blankenship, who came to MTSU from Smyrna, Georgia, and Ray Rich from Chattanooga.

Blankenship was a varsity assistant all season, while Rich started as the freshman coach and wound up as a varsity assistant, also.

Rich also did most of the scouting and recruiting for the Blue Raiders, landing some outstanding prospects for next season's freshman team.

Riley Named All-OVC for Second Season

Ken Riley, stellar senior forward for MTSU for three years, was named to the All OVC team for the second straight year. Big Rile pulled down 297 rebounds for an average of 11.4 to lead the team, and was no. 2 scorer with a 15.5 average.

He holds the career rebound record for MTSU with 913 in a three year period, breaking the old mark by nearly 150. He was the team captain for the Big Blue and it was his performance that sparked the Raiders to several wins.

Ken Riley.

Two other coaches warrent recognition. Donnie Newman, an assistant coach who started his second season for the Big Blue, gave up coaching to go into private business in January. While he was with the Raiders, he did an excellent job, and his talents will be missed.

Don Lockridge, a student assistant who was a member of the MTSU varsity last season, took over the freshman team when Rich was elevated to assistant varsity coach to replace Newman. Lockridge did a tremendous job with the Raider yearlings, guiding them to six wins in their final seven games after an almost disastrous start.

Ken Brackett, a highly successful high school coach in North Carolina, joined the Raider staff in March, and promises to help the varsity in a big way next season.

Coach Earle and Riley.

Raiders Start with Three Straight Wins

Middle Tennessee State opened the campaign with three straight wins over non-conference foes. In the season opener, the Big Blue ripped Tusculum College 91-58. The win was the most costly of the season, however, as starting guard Jim Drew broke his ankle in the opening minutes of play and was out for the rest of the season.

The Raiders showed a balanced attack with Herman Sykes getting 16, Ken Riley 14 and 6-10 soph center Chester Brown scoring 11 and pulling down 13 rebounds.

Troy State was victim No. 2, falling to the Raiders 77-58 as Sykes and Riley again paced the scoring with 26 and 22 respectively. Riley had 14 rebounds and Brown claimed 12.

Shorter College was the next to feel the Raiders' sword. The Georgians were clobbered 88-62 as MTSU followed the pattern of its two previous games. Once again Sykes paced the scoring with 23 and Riley added 21. Brown had 11 rebounds, one more than Riley.

MTSU took a 3-0 record into the Christmas break, and hope for the future was bright indeed. However, over the Holidays, necessary disciplinary action cost the Raiders another starter, and forced a complete change in the offensive approach for the rest of the season.

Big Blue Suffers Defeat at Tech and ETSU

A quirk of scheduling left the Raiders with a 23-day layoff between the win over Shorter and the first game of the new year at Tennessee Tech. Showing definite signs of rustiness and a light lack of conditioning, the Big Blue suffered its first defeat at Cookeville, 74-58.

The Raiders enjoyed a six-point lead with some ten minutes left in the game, but ran out of gas and some hot shooting by the Eagles spelled doom for MTSU. Stan Sumrell with 14 and Derry Cochran with 13 points paced the Big Blue scoring.

Two nights later, in Johnson City, MTSU went down to their second loss of the season, 80-72 to East Tennessee. Fighting back from a 17 point first half deficit, MTSU took a short lead in the second half, but once again ran out of steam to lose by eight.

Sykes scored 22, followed by Riley with 16, Cochran with 15 and Sumrell with 14.

Now 3-2 overall, and in the OVC basement with an 4-2 conference mark, MTSU heads for home to host Morehead and Eastern Kentucky.

Prater looks for basket.

MTSU Edges Morehead, Loses to Eastern, Dumps Wesleyan

Back home against Morehead, MTSU got back on the winning side of the ledger with a stirring 71-69 win. The big play was made in the final minute by captain Kenny Riley. Trailing 69-67 with 54 seconds left to play, MTSU's Derry Cochran was fouled in the act of shooting. He hit the first one, but missed the second. The 6-5 Riley grabbed the rebound over the head of the Eagles, 6-11 center and put it back in the hoop for a 70-69 lead. Stan Sumrell later hit a free throw to account for the final margin.

Riley wound up as the game's leading scorer with 20, while Sykes had 19 and Sumrell 18 for a potent one-two-three punch. Riley also had 15 rebounds against the much taller Eagles.

Yarbrough claims a rebound.

Johnson fights for the ball.

Against Eastern, MTSU was the victim of what Colonel coach Guy Strong called "our best road game in many years." Eastern shot a hot 50 per cent from the field and stormed to an 88-64 win over the not-so-hot Raiders. Stan Sumrell hit for 20 points for the Raiders, but had to take a back seat to Eastern's Charlie Mitchell who grabbed game honors with 24. Riley added 13 points and had 11 rebounds for MTSU.

Stepping out of the OVC for a game against Tennessee Wesleyan, MTSU had their hands full at Athens against a fired-up team of Bulldogs. A balanced scoring attack and some strong rebounding guided the Raiders to a 69-63 win. Sykes paced the scoring with 17, followed by Riley with 16, Sumrell with 14 and sophomore Nick Prater with 10.

Governors Stun Raiders on Last Second Shot

In one of the most exciting finishes to a game all season, MTSU fell the Austin Peay 71-70 as Gov reserve forward Dan Smith hit a 20 footer from the corner at the buzzer. MTSU deserved a better fate than that as they outplayed the home-standing Peaydros in most aspects of the game. The Raiders had a couple of eight point leads in the second half, saw APSU tie it up, then went ahead on a big bucket by Riley with 12 seconds left, only to lose it on Smith's shot. Riley wound up with 20 points, while Sykes had 17 and Cochran added 10.

Big Blue Stops Georgia State, Blows Game to U.T. Chattanooga

MTSU bounced back from the heart-breaking loss to Austin Peay to subdue a stubborn Georgia State Team by a 72-61 margin.

It was some hot shooting by guards Herman Sykes and Stan Sumrell that pulled the Big Blue through despite some tough inside playing by Georgia State's three big men.

Nick Prater came on in a reserve role, as did Bubba Yarbrough, to aid the Raider cause also.

Sykes and Sumrell hit 17 of 34 shots, most of them from long range and tallied 21 and 20 points, respectively.

Prater hit 6 of 11 from the floor for 12 points, while Yarbrough canned 4 of 5 and wound up with nine big points. Riley was the top rebounder with 11.

A big alumni meeting for those in the Atlanta area was held just before the game, and MTSU was the benefactor of a fairly good-sized cheering section of their own during the game.

Returning home, the Raiders played host to a tough UT Chattanooga team, one of their best in years. Playing good ball for the first 37 minutes, the Big Blue enjoyed a 64-55 lead with 3:20 to play, but then the roof fell in.

A full court press by the Mocs was extremely effective, and before the Raiders could regroup, UTC had knotted the score at 68-68 with 17 seconds left. The Mocs Dale Overman then stepped to the free throw line with four seconds left and calmly canned two foul shots to give the Mocs the win. A last-gasp try by MTSU to tie the game and force an overtime failed, and for the second time in five days, the Big Blue had lost a heartbreaker.

Herman Sykes hit for 24 points, twice as many as any other Raider. Chester Brown paced the rebounders with 15.

Following the split of the two-game non-conference break, MTSU looked to Bowling Green for their battle with nationally ranked Western Kentucky, and Hilltopper All-American Jim McDaniels.

Yarbrough breaks for the basket.

Toppers Hand Raiders Another Loss

Turning in perhaps their best effort of the season so far, MTSU played mighty Western Kentucky even for 35 minutes in Bowling Green before falling 80-66 to the Hilltoppers.

With 8:00 left in the game, the Big Blue knotted the score at 57-57, and with 3:30 left, trailed only 66-62. At this point, however, behind the shooting of 7-0 center Jim McDaniels and guard Jim Rose, Western outscored the Raiders 12-2 to grab a comfortable 78-64 lead, and dash the Raider hopes of the gigantic upset.

For MTSU, Sykes tallied 17 points followed closely by reserve Nick Prater with 14 and Riley with 13. Riley pulled in 15 rebounds and big Chester Brown asserted himself to the tune of ten rebounds.

Nearly all of Western's scoring was concentrated in three men, McDaniels with 26, Jerry Dunn with 23 and Rose with 21.

One accomplishment that MTSU pulled off was outrebounding the taller Hilltoppers. They held a slight 46-43 edge on the boards despite the presence of McDaniels and 6-9 Clarence Glover in the Western lineup.

One result of the strong showing is that MTSU is now looking forward to the rematch in Murfreesboro one week later.

Long Road Trip Ends with 7-7 Record

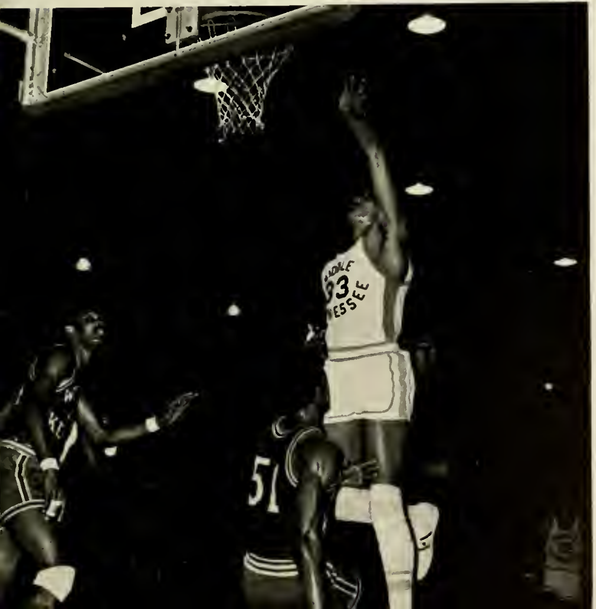
Prior to the re-match with the Hilltoppers, MTSU traveled to Boone, N.C. and Louisville, Ky. for a pair of non-conference games with Appalachian State and Bellarmine.

At Appalachian, the Raiders suffered a letdown from their tremendous effort at Western two nights before and fell to the Mountaineers 74-63. Sykes once again paced all Raider scorers with 19, while Terry Johnson had 14 in a reserve role. Johnson also had 10 rebounds.

The Raiders played considerably better at Bellarmine, downing Knights 79-75. In this one, Big Riley had his best night of the season so far. He had 28 points and 18 rebounds and almost personally destroyed Bellarmine by himself. Sykes added 13 and Prater, now a starter, pumper in a dozen, but it was Riley who made play, after play, after play.

With only minutes to go in the game, and Bellarmine in a full-court press that was proving effective, Riley personally took charge and made the key play of the night when he stole a Bellarmine inbounds pass and scored to give MTSU a four point lead with less than a minute left.

The Big Blue managed to hold onto this margin and returned home with a 7-7 mark to face powerful Western Kentucky once again.



Riley scores against Hilltoppers.

Western Wins Over Blue Again

Raider defense closes in on Hilltopper.

Western proved to be ready for the Raiders this time, and pulled away to an 87-73 win in the big rematch in Murfreesboro. Forward Nick Prater was high scorer for MTSU with 20 points. Sykes got 13 and Riley had 12 to go along with 10 rebounds.

After Western came Murray's 17th ranked Racers. MTSU slowed the game down a bit, and that, plus some cool shooting by both teams, made for an extremely low scoring game, which Murray won 51-47.

The high point was the tremendous comeback by the Raiders in the waning moments of the game. Down by 44-23 with 6:48 left to play, the Raiders suddenly caught fire and closed the gap to the final margin. Many observers feel that had the game gone on for a couple of minutes more, the Big Blue may have been able to pull it out.

Next was the trip to Edinburg, Texas to pay Pan American. The game was nip and tuck all the way until Pan American took a 76-73 lead with 1:23 to play. A hook shot by Bubba Yarbrough cut the margin to 76-75 with 57 seconds left, then MTSU regained possession of the ball with nine seconds left.

Sykes dribbled to the side, took a 20 footer and missed, but Riley grabbed the rebound off of the floor and put it in just as the horn sounded. The official signaled that the goal was good, then decided to consult the Pan American scorekeeper who said the goal was too late. No amount of protesting did any good, and the Raiders had been robbed of a win.

Back in Murfreesboro, MTSU took two big OVC wins from East Tennessee, 72-71, and Tennessee Tech, 69-60, to avenge a couple of earlier losses.

Herman Sykes and Nick Prater with 19 and 18 points respectively, paced the scoring against East Tennessee, while Prater and Ken Riley had eight rebounds.

Against Tech, in a game the Big Blue was determined not to lose, Sykes and Riley led the way. Sykes, playing one of his best games of the season, scored 20 points, grabbed 5 rebounds, and held Tech's hot-dog guard Wayne Pack to only eight points. Riley chipped in with 17, Prater had 14, and big Chester Brown scored 12 and had 13 rebounds. Riley had 16 rebounds to go with his points.

Against UT Chattanooga, MTSU found itself down by eleven points at the half, then stormed back to cut it to one point on several occasions, but could never tie the game or take the lead. Finally, the Mocs managed to eke out an 86-82 decision in one of the most exciting games of the season. Nick Prater and Ken Riley shared high point honors with 23 each. Brown was the leading rebounder with 11.

MTSU Concludes Season

Riley scores two more.

Rainey lays one up.

MTSU continued its road trip by visiting Eastern Kentucky and Morehead for a pair of OVC games. Eastern had clobbered the Raiders in Murfreesboro, and was looking for easy pickings in Richmond. The Big Blue fooled them, however, forcing them to the limit before falling 65-60 on some last minute free throw shooting.

Riley was the leading scorer with 18 points.

Against Morehead, the Raider had one of their worst games of the season, and fell to the Eagles 70-55. Riley was again high with 13 points.

Back home for games with UT Martin and Austin Peay, the Big Blue eyed a season-ending winning streak. They got the first one by downing the Vols 66-59, but were upset by APSU, 81-75. Riley led the scoring against UT Martin with 19, while Sumrell and Sykes hit for 20 each against the Governors.

Middle Tennessee traveled to Murray for their final OVC game of the season, and were trounced 92-69 by the Racers who shot a blistering 59 percent from the field. Riley played a tremendous game, getting 29 points and 17 rebounds, but got little help from his mates.

The Raiders closed the season at UT Martin, and finished on a winning note when Sykes hit a 20 footer with 2 seconds left to give MTSU a 74-72 triumph. Riley scored 17 and Sykes added 16 to top all scorers, while big Derry Cochran closed his career with a game-high 13 rebounds.

Baby Raiders

Utilizing a fast finish, the MTSU freshman basketballers wound up with a fairly respectable 8-11 mark after a miserable start which saw them lose 10 of their first 13 games.

With only one boy, 6-0 guard Mason Bonner, on a basketball scholarship, coach Ray Rich and Coach Don Lockridge did a tremendous job of getting the most out of their personnel.

In addition to Bonner, forward Keith Cromartie was on a track grant and guard Alex Miller was on a baseball scholarship. All of the others came out for the team on their own.

Over the season, the yearlings made tremendous strides, and even won five of their last six games. Wins included triumphs over Austin Peay, UT Chattanooga, Moslow Community College, and a Tennessee Tech team that boasted of seven players on basketball scholarships.

Come on Strong

Losses were to such noted basketball powers as Columbia State, the No. 1 junior college in the area, Cumberland College, Western Kentucky, and the unbeaten Murray State frosh.

Bonner wound up the season with an average of 24.0 points per game, while Cromartie was second with 15.5. Others contributing to the team included Sammy Northcutt, David Brown, Larry Martin, Alex Miller, Joe James, Clint Merrill, and Danny Lowe.

The 1970-71 freshmen had to play under two different coaches due to a switch in the coaching ranks, and had crippling injuries all season. Cromartie missed three entire games, and Bonner played all season on two bad knees. Of the Baby Raiders, Bonner is expected to give the most help to the varsity next season, but don't count out Cromartie, who is also a top-notch hurdler. He came on strong in the last half a dozen games and really looked good at times.

Cochran scores again.

Baseball Looks to Banner Year Under Solomon

1971 was Middle Tennessee State University's first season under a full-time baseball coach. Dr. A. H. (Lefty) Solomon took over the reins last summer after a succession of assistant basketball coaches had had duties of head coach prior to that.

Solomon immediately began an intensive recruiting campaign that reaped benefits. Pitchers Clayton Whitaker, Randy Bratton, Bobby Parton, and Jack Laverty, catchers Tommy Nolen, and Jesse Carter, outfielders Steve Jones and Eddie Manson, and infielders Bill Bevins and Alex Miller came to MTSU as a result of Solomon's persuasion. For the first time, a fall baseball program was instituted, and the Blue Raiders wound up a ten-game schedule with an impressive 8-1-1 record. Solomon expressed enthusiasm for the coming season, and hoped the winning fall attitude would prevail in the spring.

Pitching was the heart of the Blue Raider team. In addition to Whitaker, Bratton, Parton, and Laverty, Denny Bailey, Bobby Gatlin, Mike Townsend, Jimmy Gilliam, Gary O'Bryan, Prestley Guy, Gary Elrod, Stan Evans and Terry Rowe all saw duty on the mound.

Other infielders included Tony Kessinger, Scott Corbin, Les Price, and Harry Maurice with Taylor Edward and Robichaud roaming the outfield.

Since Solomon took over the reigns, several improvements have taken place. The entire infield has been reworked and is now a top-notch playing surface. A fence has been added around the outfield, and more stands are to be added in the near future. A press box is in the planning stage.

Solomon Installs Winter Conditioning Program

For four days a week, every week from Thanksgiving until weather permitted them to practice outdoors, the MTSU baseball team worked out under a program of conditioning set up by Coach Lefty Solomon. It involved running, working out with weights and, for the pitchers, some throwing. Most of the players felt it was beneficial, and Coach Solomon hopes that it will prove to be helpful in getting the players in shape for the tough 42-game schedule. This is the first year that MTSU has had such a program, although several highly-successful teams have had one for years.

Toughest-Ever Schedule Faced Big Blue

One of the philosophies of Coach Solomon in regard to a strong program is that to play well you have to play other teams that play well, to mix it up with the "Big Boys", and the 1971 schedule bears him out. In addition to the always tough Ohio Valley Conference teams, the Blue Raiders played host to such baseball powers as Akron University, Wayne State of Detroit, David Lipscomb, Bradley University and Union University of Jackson, Tennessee. On the road, the Raiders played against such teams as Union and Vanderbilt, and took a nine-day, nine-game road trip to Florida and Alabama. On this trip they played such schools as Tampa, Florida A & M, Stetson, Mercer, and Eddie Stanky's University of South Alabama team. All in all, 1971 at MTSU should be called the "year of the fan" because the Blue Raiders were a delight to watch.

Golf Expects Return to Power Under Patty

Golf at MTSU is expected to return to the status it enjoyed during the mid-sixties when the Blue Raiders won the Ohio Valley Conference title time and time again.
1967 was the last time a Raider team captured that event however, and Dr. E. K. Patty aims to do something about that. For a start, he recruited some of the top young golfers in the south, and began to mold them into winners.
They entered three tournaments in the fall, placing sixth in the first, third in the second one, and wound up by winning the third one. If this type of improvement is a hint of things to come, the Blue Raiders are going to be hard to handle in matches this spring and in years to come.
On the team are Gerry Risberg, Morris Rogers, Bill Huling, Scudday Horner, Harry Mikazans, Bill Buck, Jim Atkins, Mike Barrett, Quenton Bragg and Bing Cysk.
Of this group, only Risberg and Atkins are returning veterans, while all of the others are newcomers to the MTSU golf scene.
The 1971 schedule includes the Palmetto Invitational, the Cape Coral Invitational, the Mid-South Classic, and both the Tennessee Intercollegiates and the OVC Championships.

Dual matches were held with Sewanee, Tennessee Tech, Austin Peay, Vanderbilt, and UT Chattanooga.
Golf has a long and prestigious history at MTSU, and this team is sure to uphold that image. MTSU has won nine OVC championships in fifteen years, and was the NCAA College Division Champion in 1965. Eleven times the Blue Raiders have captured the Tennessee Intercollegiate crown, and before that, they won the VSAC title eight straight times.

Patty's Career at MTSU Highlighted by Championships

Dr. E. K. Patty, who also doubles as Athletic Business Manager, is the coach of the highly successful MTSU golf teams that have dominated the Ohio Valley Conference for a decade and a half.

Patty, a master recruiter as well as a skillful teacher, has built a dynasty here at MTSU, with the pinacle of success being reached in 1965 with a national championship team. During the period from 1963-1968, Patty coached six All-Americans, and saw two of his boys become the national low medalist, Gary Head in 1963 and Larry Gilbert in 1965.

Patty, himself, has been named the OVC "Coach of the Year" five times and was national Coach of the Year in 1965.

He is a member of the NCAA Golf Committee.

Under Dr. Patty, MTSU had a fantastic 57-match winning streak in dual competition.

Patty's record since 1959 is 82 wins and four losses.

Track Gains National Recognition

National recognition came the way of the Blue Raiders in 1970 and 1971 as triple jumper Barry McClure, a freshman from Carrollton, Ga., became the school's first University Division All-American by grabbing 4th place in his specialty at the NCAA Championships in Des Moines, Iowa.

McClure also took sixth place in the 1970 Indoor NCAA Championships, and MTSU sent four athletes, McClure, long jumper Tommy Haynes, sprinter Charles Wilson and hurdler Nate Porter to the 1971 Indoor Championships.

David Wyatt, now an assistant to head coach Dean Hayes, also came into the national limelight by running a 51.0 in the intermediate hurles, and had a good shot at All-American until he fell over the last hurdle as he was leading his heat at Des Moines.

Since McClure and Wilson are only sophomores, and Haynes and Porter are merely freshmen, MTSU is assured of being in the national spotlight for at least four more years.

1971 Track Team.

Wilson hands off to Johnson in 440 yard relay.

Raiders Defend TIAC, Eye OVE

Defending their Tennessee Intercollegiate title, won last spring in Memphis, and capturing the Ohio Valley Conference title from league power Western Kentucky are the two prime considerations of the 1971 track team.

MTSU is fortunate to have several top-notch athletes. In addition to the quartet mentioned above, co-captains Terry Scott and Erskine Smith, along with veterans Homer Huffman, Gary Robinson, Myles Maillie, Dan Crews, Terry Johnson, and Rich Russo, are expected to carry the Raiders to a great season.

Several newcomers, including shotputter Greg Lintner, hurdler Keith Cromartie, and dashman Huey Johnson, should also help the Big Blue tremendously.

MTSU's schedule, as always, is ambitious. The Piedmont Relays, the Florida Relays, the Kentucky Relays, the Ohio State Relays, the Drake Relays and MTSU's own Middle Tennessee Relays dot the schedule.

Several Raiders Gain Laurels

Headed by Barry McClure, the Blue Raiders' triple jump ace, MTSU had a contingent of fine athletes to distinguish themselves this season. McClure was named to the All-American team after placing fourth in the NCAA last June. He also won the Drake Relays, and captured indoor titles at the Mason-Dixon Games (a leap of 51-9½, his best ever) and the Ohio State Relays.

Another sophomore, Charles Wilson of Nashville, won the OVC Championship in the 100 yard dash, setting a new school record of 9.5 in the process. He is also the TIC champion, and will be defending both titles this spring.

Tommy Haynes, a freshman from Nashville, has been a tremendous boost to the Blue Raiders. He won the United States Track and Field Federation long jump, won again at the Ohio State Invitational and cleared 25 feet to rank 4th in the nation indoors. He was one of four Raiders who competed in the NCAA Indoor Championships in Detroit in March.

Another stellar performer is hurdler Nate Porter. A prep star at Bradenton, Fla., Nate came to MTSU and quickly qualified for the NCAA by running an 8.9 in the 70 yard highs indoors. He has been clocked in 13.8 for the 120 highs in high school. Coach Hayes expects great things of Porter in the next four years.

Coming to MTSU along with Porter is high school teammate Keith Cromartie. Cromartie will be a specialist in the 440 intermediates.

Co-Captain Terry Scott, a member of MTSU's record setting mile relay team (3:10.5), has competed in both the triple jump and long jump, and also runs the 440. Scott is a very valuable member of the team in another way. He is the man who keeps everyone loose with his inane comments.

The other captain is Erskine Smith, a senior from Murfreesboro. Erskine is a member of the 440 relay team, and runs the 220 and 440.

Another valuable member of the team is Homer Huffman, who placed third in the 880 in the OVC last year, and is looking for an ever higher finish this spring.

Uganda Native Paces MTSU Netters

The No. 1 addition to the tennis program at MTSU is international star Eustace Kigongo, a freshman from Uganda. Rated as the very best tennis player in his country, No. 2 in the East African Men's rankings, and No. 3 in the whole of Africa Kigongo played the No. 1 singles for the Blue Raiders all season.

Coach Buck Bouldin also acquired the services of Jerry Borysko, a freshman from Buffalo, N.Y., and Paul Adler, a freshman from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. These three should give MTSU a strong program for the next four seasons.

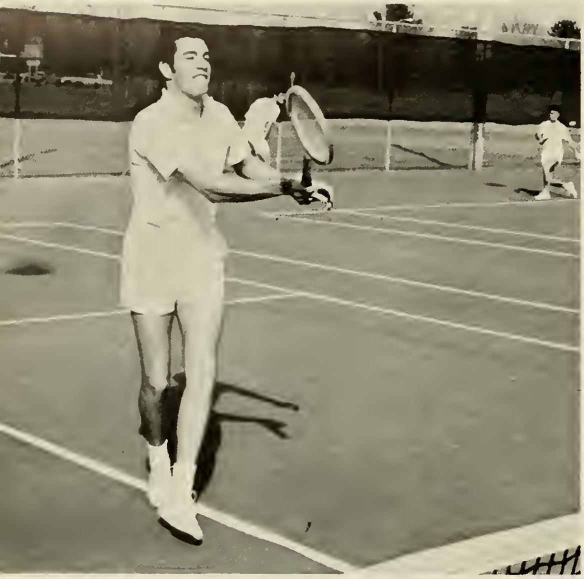
In addition to the newcomers, several veterans were responsible for the success of the 1971 season. Lee Mayo, a junior from Nashville, Charlie Beckham, a senior from Atlanta, Ron Persons, a senior from Ft. Myers, Fla., Todd Harris, a senior from Winter Park, Fla., and Terry Havens, a sophomore from Bury, England, are the returning veterans.

As usual, Coach Bouldin scheduled some of the tennis heavyweights in the South. Included in the Blue Raider tennis slate are Amherst, University of Oklahoma, Kansas State, Arkansas, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Wayne State and Oral Roberts. Three big round-robin tournaments, plus the Tennessee Intercollegiate and Ohio Valley Conference championships and dual matches with all seven of the OVC foes, are also on the schedule. The tournaments are the Big Gold Tourney in Hattiesburg, Miss., hosted by Southern Mississippi, the Oral Roberts Tourney, hosted by Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., and the Oklahoma City University Tourney, hosted by Oklahoma City U.

Since Coach Bouldin came to MTSU, tennis has been on the upswing. His 1970 team finished in a tie for fourth in the OVC, and also grabbed fourth place in the Tennessee Intercollegiates. Bouldin expects to move up in both meets this spring.

Throughout most of the season, Kigongo played No. 1 singles, Mayo played No. 2, Beckham No. 3, Borysko No 4, Adler No. 5, and Havens No. 6. Kigongo and Borysko teamed up for the No. 1 doubles, with Mayo and Beckham playing No. 2, and Adler and Harris holding down No. 3.

Assisting Coach Bouldin this season was Tom Magner, a graduate assistant who played No. 1 for the Blue Raiders last season. Still in command of a sharp game, Magner kept everyone on their toes all season by challenging them.



Beckham lobs one.

Bouldin Heads Much-Improved Tennis Program

Now in his eighth season as head tennis coach at MTSU, Granville "Buck" Bouldin may have his best team ever at MTSU in 1971. Taking over the program in 1964, Bouldin promptly guided his team to a 10-1 mark, by far the best in many, many years.

That first season served notice on the rest of the Ohio Valley Conference, but this didn't slow down the rapid improvement in the Blue Raider tennis program. Winning seasons continued despite stronger schedules each year.

1970 was Coach Bouldin's poorest, record-wise, but the schedule included such powers as Florida State, Tennessee, and several major schools in the Oral Roberts tournament. Wins came over OVC champion Western, runner-up Tennessee Tech, and Vanderbilt.

Bouldin has twice been named as the OVC's "Coach of the Year," in 1965 and again in 1968.

Co-Curricular Committee

The Co-Curricular Committee, a bright new face on the service horizon, was formed last year. Composed of faculty members, administrative staff, and students, it serves as a coordinating body for a majority of campus activities. Among these areas are included student publications, the campus calendar, clearing services for budget requests where there is a relation to student activities, and riding herd on subcommittee responsibilities. Much of the work of the Co-Curricular Committee is farmed out to eight different groups which function in the context of several student area interests including: special events, dance, ideas and issues, hospitality and games, international interests, fine arts, films, and publicity.

Alpha Eta Rho

The Mu Tau Chapter of the International Aviation Fraternity was just organized for the first time this year. They participate in collegiate flying meets and aid in relieving some of the traumas of registration day. The members of the fraternity have set high but relevant goals for themselves, and one of the most important is that of instilling in the public mind a confidence in aviation. This is to say that they try to eliminate the "white knuckle" flights among the faint of heart. Officers include: Chief Pilot-David LaGrange; Worthy Navigator-Charles Reed; Master of Communications-Bernard Doubler; Courier-Don Ace; and Crew Chief-Jack Wehmeyer.

Membership in this honorary dramatic group is restricted to those who have worked at least one hundred hours in activities associated with play production and who have demonstrated proficiency in at least three fields of dramatic endeavor. These fields include designing, set construction, managing, directing, costuming, lighting, make-up, and acting. Its principal objective is to promote excellence in the dramatic arts, particularly in the area of acting. In almost every production on the campus this year, this chapter has many of its members in the leading roles. The University chapter is designated as the Lambda Gamma Cast.

Expressed in other ways, Delta Tau Alpha recognizes and thereby promotes those students who have obtained high standards of scholarship, leadership, and character. Also, it encourages high ethical standards among the chosen agriculture students and strives to render services to the student body as well as to the Agriculture Department. Among those activities included in the Delta Tau Alpha calendar are: job seminars of agriculture students; course and teacher evaluations; student recruitment; and a Christmas party for underprivileged children in the immediate area.

Kappa Delta Pi enunciates the historic purpose of Middle Tennessee State University: the training of teachers for the Tennessee classrooms. Membership is offered to those who have expressed an interest in professional education, who are happily ensconced in the upper one-fifth of their class, and who have attained at least a 3.2 scholastic average in all courses. Most of the honorary's programs this past year have been centered in subjects relating to education and problems relating to education.

A continuing project of Kappa Omicron Phi is the annual pre-Homecoming mum sale. The funds that are derived from this project are utilized in assisting the Murfreesboro "Classroom-on-Wheels" program, the Home Economics Scholarship Fund, and the Hettie M. Anthony Fellowship Fund. Chapter programs included a lecture on drug abuse, a "Classroom-on-Wheels" review, and a Founders Day observance. The chapter's purpose is "to further the best interests of Home Economics in four-year colleges and universities".

One of the most significant cultural contributions of the Art Fraternity is the student art shows in the University Center. Also, spring and fall auctions are held and assistance is rendered in the Art Barn Gallery. The Fraternity, in its stated purposes, "recognizes outstanding accomplishments in the field of art and the furtherance of artistic activity with special emphasis on the maturation of each member as an artist individual".

Upon the completion of two semesters of accounting and upon the attainment of a 3.0 average in accounting and a 2.5 composite average, membership is opened by the campus Accounting Society. Membership is extended to both undergraduate and graduate students. Society members, based on its organizational charter, strive for self-improvement, promote the collegiate study of accounting, and encourage and recognize scholastic and professional excellence. Activities for the past year include: sponsoring speakers in the theme area of accounting, participating in Club Night, sponsoring a child for the ASB Christmas party, and providing an annual scholarship for a needy accounting major.

Organized during the 1969-70 school year, Pi Sigma Chapter's founding interest was that of creating interest in history and all of its ramifications, also, "it seeks to bring students, teachers, and writers of history together both intellectually and socially, and it encourages and assists, in a variety of ways, historical research and publication by its members". Social activities are held monthly and the chapter often provides opportunities for the students to express opinions and make wishes known in their relationship with the University's History Department.

Phi Mu Delta

Students who have expressed an interest in the professions associated with medical science compose the membership of Phi Mu Delta. Purposes of the honorary are to encourage excellence in scholarship among pre-medical students and to stimulate an appreciation of the importance of pre-medical education in the study of medicine. It also serves to promote cooperation and contact between medical and pre-medical students and educators in developing and adequate program of pre-medical education. Activities during the past year have included dinner forums, viewing of films, field trips to local and area hospitals, and meetings with other chapters in Middle Tennessee.

Once upon a time, the standard practice sentence for neophyte typists was: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." May still be. Nevertheless, with some credulous paraphrasing, Pi Omega Pi's purpose may be something of the same: "that of motivating and preparing good business education teachers." This prestigious, nationally affiliate honorary sponsors typing contests, a Christmas project, and several fund-raising projects.

Unfortunately, the importance of social studies has, too often, been lost in a world attuned to technology. Only in recent times has society made the necessary effort to bridge the gap between the two disciplines. Pi Gamma Mu, in its purpose, is dedicated to this "bridge-making." Membership is restricted to those students who have attained at least a 3.0 scholastic average in the area of social science and to those who have completed twenty hours or more in social science courses. The organization meets each month, and initiations are held on a semester basis.

In a free enterprise system, the name of the game is "Marketing." Therefore, the campus honorary, Pi Sigma Epsilon, Alpha Pi chapter, promotes and endeavors to refine this activity. Its purpose: "providing a collegiate brotherhood for marketing students, educators, and professionals" is heightened by "a well-rounded, purposeful organization that is dedicated to the building of the marketing profession, and to the stimulation of improved marketing and selling educating techniques, and standards." A tangible effort by Alpha Pi is the close association with the Sales and Marketing Executives Club in Nashville, Tennessee. Projects, in kind, include various selling activities and an annual marketing seminar.

Sigma's initiation ritual is probably the most interesting and innovative on the campus. Sigma's principal project is a free tutoring service that was introduced several years ago.

Tau Omicron

Founded in 1930, Tau Omicron is the sole organization on the University campus that honors junior and senior women exclusively. It is an honor group that requires a cumulative average of 3.0 or above. Not only is academic achievement stressed but so are leadership abilities and participation in university activities. Consequently, Tau Omicron is a service organization as well and provides free tutoring services, maintains a loan fund, sponsors the all-campus All-Sing, and provides name plaques identifying dormitories with those persons honored in the names.

Phi Sigma Beta does not sponsor projects nor does it play an organizational role in campus activities. Its principal function is to promote and to reward excellence in scholarship at Middle Tennessee State University. In fact, Phi Sigma Beta carries the identical requirements, including the constitution and by-laws, of Phi Beta Kappa and, in essence, is the initial step in obtaining the time-honored organization of William and Mary College on this campus.

"Mr. MTSU" Bows In . . .

Staged for the first time at the University was the "Mr. MTSU Contest." Several organizations sponsored entries.

So, Before the footlights they paraded, answered questions, and looked as coy as possible. Only two big differences between this footlight parade and others of the past were the differences in the sex and there was no swimsuit division.

Organizations

They grow during the day, in the night, most anytime . . . there's one for every quirk, every urge, every bent for identification, and—even bias . . . some are pro-joiners, many are amateur attenders . . . they meet, they project, they exhort, they insure the sounding boards for causes, real and imagined . . . They're the mortar that may give entity —to a degree—to the campus, the sub-city sprawled to the east of the other city.

MIDLANDER

The MIDLANDER, first published during the spring of 1926, attempts to record something of the history of each current year. The fact that there are omissions trails back to many things. Principally it is because the book undergoes a year-long gestation period and those who share the responsibilities of production have other duties, classes being a case in point.

There are, of course, other reasons for which, it is hoped, the reader will have understanding and show some tolerance. Nevertheless, the current edition does present at least an abbreviated picture of Middle Tennessee State University, 1970-71. It is in this light that the staff expresses optimism for the reception of this volume.

Editors for the fall and spring semesters of the Sidelines David Page and Jill Woodworth, respectively, confer on editorial policy.

Sidelines

The Sidelines this year entered its forty-third year of publication for the university community. Written and edited by university students in association with the journalism department, the semi-weekly student newspaper is distributed to a university circulation of 6,000 within three hours after it is sent to press.

In addition to providing the university with timely coverage of local and surrounding area news, the Sidelines editorial pages provide an open forum for the expression and exchange of viewpoints for students, faculty and administration, as well as guiding student opinion through editorials.

Monica Devine, spring semester business manager, checks advertisement lay-outs for attractiveness and accuracy.

Working together on a story for the Sidelines are News Editor Gary Matthews, Reporter David Burger, Assistant Feature Editor Jimmy Trammel, Assistant News Editor Mike West, and Assistant News Editor Roger Murray.

Planning page layouts for the semi-weekly student publication Managing Editor Jim Lynch, Feature Editor Becky Freeman, and Managing Editor Jim Leonhirth cooperate in writing headlines and deciding how and where Sidelines news, features and sports stories, and pictures will be displayed.

Production staff supervisor Mrs. Rosalind G. Harrell pastes up copy and headlines on Monday and Thursday production nights for the Tuesday and Friday editiors of the Sidelines.

Members of the Sidelines business staff for the spring semester include Julia Little, circulation manager; Debbie Polk, advertising manager; and Sheila Massey, circulation manager.

Collage

It's 11:83 p.m. and it's not COLLAGE yet! Duane Sawyer sighs on a late layout night while Barbara Deal dreams of days when the sun was warmer and responsibilities less demanding.

COLLAGE seems to have survived its third year of publication rather well, since no one was vocally offended by our picturesque little poems and stories and we didn't kill each other with layout knives. People are beginning to notice us, now that we are growing up a little, and contributions no longer have to be sought out with specially trained basset hounds, but rather are brought to the magazine office voluntarily by eager young authors. That office to which things are brought is no longer a draughty garage with dim lights and 500 pound rates, but an orange and yellow complex in Jones Hall.

COLLAGE is published at irregular intervals based on the budget and the stars (or so they say). This year there were four issues; next year there will be more.

COLLAGE exists to publish prose, poetry, art, and photography produced by MTSU students, faculty and alumni! Neither Saturday Review, Friday night reruns, nor an aesthetic comic book, but a little of all of the above, and more.

Imagination is vital to editing and composing poetry. Barbara Deal, Poetry Editor, imagines that she is typing a poem . . . she imagines that a paper sack is stationery; the staff can't afford real typing paper.

Teena Andrews, Prose Editor, and the only person on the staff who thinks she can spell, proofreads copy before an interminable COLLAGE layout.

Editor-in-Chief Duane Sawyer consults an astrology manual to determine deadlines for the campus magazine.

Diane Coker, COLLAGE Social Director, begins an all night session of "Twenty Questions" with Editor Duane Sawyer. And still it goes on.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union made vast entries in their 1970-71 ledger. As a basic starter, the Union members held vespers, three times weekly, at their house on Tennessee Boulevard. Five students were sent out as missionaries. There were visitations to area nursing homes and to the Children's Home. Also, dormitory devotions were held; there was an international student ministry effort; and several were in attendance at the State BSU Convention and conferences at Ridgecrest and Fort Worth.

For the past thirty-six years the Biology Club has sponsored the annual campus Stunt Night. During this generation span the students have been entertained by clever and sometimes sharp caricatures of collegiate life at all levels. Beyond its feel for levity, the club attempts to promote an interest in biology and an awareness of the environment. In addition, contributions are made to the George Davis Loan Fund.

THIRD ROW: Liz Thackston, Ellen Thornbury, Kathy Whitman, Bob Pollit.

Aside from its religious emphasis, the high points of the Canterbury Association's repertoire are the Rap Sessions. These sessions are held each Thursday night at the Wesley Foundation house and subjects discussed during the 1970-71 year were the Rock Opera, Dick Gregory's address, abortion, and others. The other principal activity during the weekly meetings is the Service of Holy Communion. Four times each semester there is a dinner meeting at the local church where the fare ranges from soul food to spaghetti.

Block and Bridle Club

Although the Block and Bridle Club is not entirely horse-oriented, it does sponsor a Walking Horse Show, and a show featuring quarter-horses. Another continuing project is the barbecue and roast beef vending at various sales in the area. The guiding principle of the organization is to promote animal science.

Black Student Association

One of the best projects of this group during the past year was the sponsorship of Black History Week. It was highlighted by the program given by Dick Gregory. In addition, the organization provided a chorus for the Campus Sing-Out and collected funds for the Patterson Park drive. The Association has as its principal purpose that of "promoting Black unity, Black awareness, and Black participation in student affairs."

Buchanan Players

This organization had its origin in the work of Miss Rebecca Buchanan. She came to the institution in 1913 and remained until 1932. During this period she operated almost totally as the speech and drama faculty. The Players have developed into one of the most talented and polished dramatic groups in the South. Its productions have been favorably compared with those staged by highly professionalized groups. Cases in point for the Players this year included "Dinny and the Witches", "The Lion in Winter", and "The Time of Your Life".

Debate Squad

Logging thousands of miles in eastern United States and participating in eighteen tournaments have occupied the lion's share of the Debate Squad's time during 1970-71. Involved in this organization's perambulations have been over 250 rounds of debate and a squad record of fifty-five per cent. The varsity, with a win percentage of over sixty-five per cent, tied for fourth place at Samford University, fourth place at Brown University, third place at the University of South Carolina, third place at Tulane, second place at the University of Kentucky, and won for the third straight year the Tennessee Intercollegiate State Championship in Varsity Debate.

One of the largest student religious organizations represented at the University, the Church of Christ Student Group has a bustling and popular center near the campus. It states as its purpose that of "promoting and encouraging a close communion with God and man through nightly devotionals and planned fellowship with those of like beliefs." Activities include an admixture of social and religious programs including seasonal retreats, picnics, fellowships, a spring banquet, and parties.

With gentle breeze from old Heidleberg wafting through all of their activities, the Die Deutschen Kameraden organization engages in many activities consonant with the German language. In fact, their purposes are "to further knowledge of the language, to provide opportunities to associate with other German students (as well as native Germans and faculty members), and to schedule co-curricular activities that involve Germanic materials and emphasis. This past year the club has designed Advent wreaths and participated in Christmas caroling, among other things.

The distaffers in home economics go far beyond the vale of sock-darning and biscuit-cutting. This is amply reflected in their purpose which is "to acquaint young women with the broadening field of home economics and to invite them to become professions in their field." A most active group, The Home Economics Association conducts a Career Day for Mid-State high schools, participates in the Tau Omicron All-Sing, and, among other activities, sponsors a social for freshman home economics majors.

El Circulo Hispano

The principal emphasis of the El Circulo Hispano organization is to further the knowledge and culture connotations of the Spanish language. One of the vehicles utilized for highlighting the emphasis is the Christmas "Pinata" party. Other Spanish-oriented activities include Spanish caroling at the Murfreesboro Nursing Home, staging a play related to the language, and a Spanish dinner.

International Club

In a land that is in many ways strange to them, the international students consequently try to objectively activate their principal purpose which is "to promote good relations and understanding among international students and American students, and the people of the community." Activities include a monthly dinner which is sponsored by the Murfreesboro International Students Hospitality Committee, and an International Night. The Thai students at the University sponsored a Thai National Day and His Majestic King birthday on December 5.

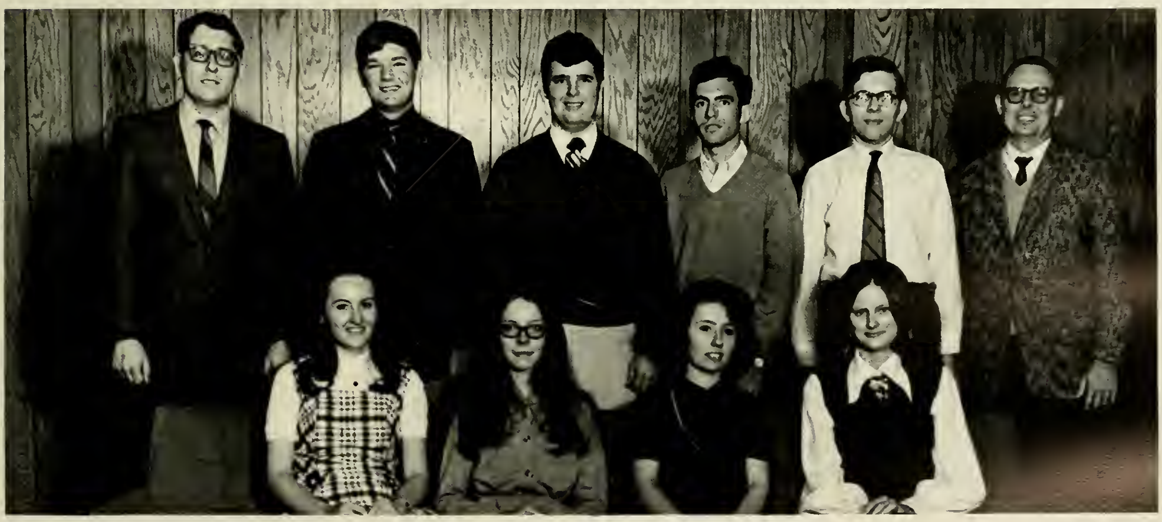
This is a religiously oriented group that is composed of affiliates of the Church of God, Church of God of the Prophecy, and other Pentecostal groups. Kappa Epsilon states that it "promotes campus fellowship and an academic inquiry into the Christian faith." Further, it "tries to offer practical ways of maintaining the resources, abilities, and leadership needed to fulfill Christian commitments." Activities and projects include club night participation, a picnic, donut sales, and sessions with visiting speakers.

Kappa Epsilon



Highly oriented for service, the club, in conjunction with Tau Omicron, participates in a free tutoring service. The organization's purposes are "to stimulate in the membership a deeper intellectual investigatory interest in mathematics," and "to unify and advance the pursuits of the individual members in the mathematics field."

K-Mates

"Service" is the password for this organization. Its entire program is oriented to originating projects to assist the school and community. For example, the campus trash cans are the handiwork of the K-Mates. Also, there is an annual clothes drive for needy children as well as the traditional custom of preparing Christmas stockings. The members have to their credit a tutoring program for children in the city's McFadden area.

Public relations for the medium of music is one of the principal purposes of the Music Educators National Conference. Also, it attempts to advance music education and "reflect the influence of music educators as an important segment of the general education profession". Some of its members attended the Southern Division Convention in Daytona Beach, Florida, and the Orff-Schulwerk Convention in Memphis. Sources of funds include the operation of concessions at the MTSBOA Solo and Ensemble Festivals, and at the MTSBOA Concert Festival.

Music Educators National Conference

From this group will come high-level secretarial services in industry and in the professions. Also, some of the business majors will enter teaching and related vocations. Their purpose simply stated is "to encourage exchange of ideas and experiences and to provide opportunities for contacts between the students and professionals". The association sponsors a "Santa Claus Program" for one child each year from funds derived from a candy sale.

The Center is composed of Catholic students who attempt to devine the true meaning of the Catholic religion. Also, the members "attempt to learn how to live as young Christians in the world of today." In addition to a weekly worship service, the Center engages in activities that reflect what is generally interpreted as the Christian's service role. For this past year, these included a collection for the UNICEF, a party for seventy-five patients at the Veterans Hospital, and a distribution of Christmas baskets to Rutherford County's needy.

Physical Education Club

This organization meets on the first and third Thursday of each month with the primary purpose of stimulating interest in the physical education profession. Each year, several of its members attend the State and Southern conventions. The Club's related projects include the staging of a carnival and participation in a play day in conjunction with other OVC clubs. The Club also sponsors a child at the ASB Christmas Party.

The Presbyterian Student Fellowship will salute the close of the year with a canoe trip in Wisconsin. Less exciting and imaginative, perhaps, but, nevertheless, the bedrock of the organization, were several recurring activities. These included weekly and monthly meetings, Sunday evening Bibly study, and two retreats.

The Fellowship is sponsored by three churches for the purpose of providing "an opportunity for students to come together and grow in our Lord."

This organization first rode onto the campus in 1963. It promotes intercollegiate rodeo and an interest in horses. In fact, each year a rodeo is staged on the east campus.

The University organization is an active member of the Mid-South Intercollegiate Rodeo Association and participates in meets between colleges in the area. Somewhere between the Brahma bull and the quarter-horse are wedged such non-equestrian activities as weiner roasts and film showings.

Rodeo Club

Sociology Club

In a world that now has a sharp focus on living together and the problems of understanding one another, this organization has established the goal "of engendering interest in the field as a means of arriving at a factual knowledge of life." The Club is composed of sociology majors and two meetings are held each month. As a part of the semi-monthly programs, films related to sociology are shown and several outstanding individuals appear as speakers.

Triton Club

The Triton Club represents the fancy side of swimming. A member of the International Academy of Aquatic Art, it activates its purpose in the programs that are presented each year. Among other things, the Tritons attempt "to recognize and explore the potential of the aquatic medium for truly artistic self-expression and interpretation." It annual Spring Water Show has become big-time and is a red letter point on the campus calendar. The Tritons also present a water show for the Lebanon Road Veterans Hospital.

The Soil Conservation Society sponsors a booth at Club Night. They won first place in the special interest group.

Soil Conservation Society

This society is attuned to the times in areas presently receiving considerable coverage in literature and programs by state and national organizations. Its activities are highlighted by its purposes in promoting the development of soil conservation, water, the finned creatures, wildlife, and other natural resources. Constructing duck blinds, nesting boxes, and promoting ecology are among the projects high on the society's work calendar.

SEATED: Emily Smith Habel, President; Virginia Fults, Publicity Chairman; Wanda Gillespie, Membership Chairman. STANDING: Karen Riordan, Program Chairman; Carolyn Gray, Treasurer; Cynthia Smith, Secretary; Mr. Dean Freedle, Advisor. NOT PICTURED: Dr. Maples, Advisor.

Student National Education Association

From this group will come staffing for the classrooms of Tennessee and adjoining states. The organization and its purposes are very much in line with the original intent of the University—that of teacher-training. It is one of the largest groups on campus and the theme of its regular monthly meetings is centered in education and the problems of the profession. The major project of the year was hosting the STEA State Convention and FTA Convention, which was held on the MTSU campus during March.

These are the pledging Florence Nightingales, both male and female. They have banded themselves together for the principal purpose of encouraging their members to participate in professional organizations. During the past year the Association has held a dinner meeting, has heard speakers from both medical and nonmedical fields, and has participated in several fund raising and campus-wide activities.

FRONT ROW: Sheila Rogers, Corresponding Secretary; Dorothy Mosby, Recording Secretary; Pat Cooney, President; Billie Hill, Vice President; Christie Duke, ASB Representative. Wesley Foundation

Home base for the Wesley Foundation is a stone house that rests just across the bridge from Clement and Gore Halls. The house is open every day for meetings, study, worship, and discussions. Foundation activities include two weekend retreats, participation in the campus All-Sing, Sunday morning worship services, and Wednesday night dinners. The organization is affiliated with United Methodist, Christian, and Episcopal Churches.

Veterans Club

The Veterans Club traces its nativity to 1947 and, during subsequent years, has become one of the most active organizations on the campus. It hosted its first talent show in 1954 and followed with a beauty contest in 1962. Other activities include a Christmas party for needy children and visits to the Lebanon Road Veterans Hospital. Its purpose is "to promote the social and academic aspects of veterans on the campus."

Young Democrats

Voter registration and absentee ballot drives were conducted with enthusiasm during the November election by the MTSU College Young Democrats, an organization created to promote political involvement and participation in community affairs. From appearances by several important political figures and discussion of current issues on local, state, and national levels, members gain a better understanding of problems and possible solutions in our governments. The 1970 campaign proved the College Young Democrats to be an action organization with plans for the 1972 elections now being formulated.

The Sanders Trio

The Sanders Trio is in residence at Middle Tennessee State University. The ensemble is becoming known as ambassadors of music for the University by presenting concerts which embody the ideals of artistry and musicianship. In addition to live radio concerts, special clinics, children and adult concerts, the Trio's television broadcasts have been aired nationally.

Brassy effort.

Band of Blue

The lilting tunes rising from Horace Jones Field during the crisp fall days are the brassy and foot-tapping concoctions of the Band of Blue. Also the sharp-stepping columns moving across Memorial Square toward the bedecked Inaugural Platform are those of the Band of Blue. There are the parades and other special events where the musical ambassadors speak for the University. Then there are the tours and the implanting of the quality and calibre of campus music activities.

And then the big bass drum.

Classes

Barreling onto the campus in droves . . . starry-eyed first-termers, refugees, from the regimen of a highly structured high school day . . . new found freedom and the perils of adjustment . . . some fall, others survive . . . some drift away to the army camps, to convenient employment, or something—others hold steadfast at the ramparts . . . the struggle upward through the classes . . . some few casualties here and there . . . crystallation of life's plan for the bread and butter side . . . victory and another milestone just on the other side of the convocation platform.

Editor
1970-71 MIDLANDER

My Sincere Thanks To:

Dr. Pittard for his help and understanding with the yearbook this year.

Melanie Spain for completing much of the lay-out and for the many hours that she devoted to typing the manuscript, and for the many additional services that she performed.

Mrs. Marvin Briley, Secretary in the Office of Alumni Relations, for serving as message bearer, for her assistance in business affairs related to the book, and for her counsel.

Marsha Hall, Business Manager, for her role in providing a part of the financing of the book.

Jimmy Trammel, who wrote the humorous opening section and was always there to boost our confidence.

Jimmy Freeman, Director of Sports Information, for his cooperation in preparing the athletic section.

My professors for their forbearance during the crucial periods of deadlines.

The smile and the gland hand at the market place . . . the music and bustle of the public square . . . in search of parking with a weather eye out for the gendarmes . . . the vast expanses of Jackson and Mercury and the quick drop-ins at the mini-markets scattered this way and that . . . restaurants, clothing emporiums, money depositories, flickers, and all of the rest . . . some of them recorded in the pages that follow . . . co-operative merchants and the like who lend a needed revenue transfusion . . . our thanks.

What sort of man wears a John Roberts ring?

Not lightweight when it comes to books and a positive authority on good looks. He is the most sophisticated man on campus . . . a man with a talent for surrounding himself with the fairest femmes in sight—a young man with lots of drive on the campus and off, he takes his recreation first class. For this take-charge young man, the sky is the limit—and he soars often. Take off yourself and let your success show a little. Show it with your Official Middle Tennessee State University Ring.
